APPOINTMENT OF FORMER ROOSEVELT FOLLOWER A SURPRISE AT CAPITAL

HAS BEEN A WILSON SUPPORTER

WASHINGTON, Feb. 25—Bainbridge Colby, who is independent in politics with Democratic leanings, was appointed Secretary of State today by President Wilson to succeed Robert Lansing. The appointment came as a great surprise to Washington officials and politicians who had expected the President to name a strong Democrat to the post of ranking cabinet officer. Colby until a few years ago was regarded as a Progressive Republican. In 1916 he supported Roosevelt but switched over to Wilson when Roosevelt refused to run as a Progressive. He was appointed to the Shipping Board as an Independent. Although he refused to disclose his politics saying it was bad taste before the Senate confirmed his nomination his friends asserted that Colby is not a Democrat. Politicians say in the President's appointment of Colby there is an indication that the President believes party lines are being eradicated. In this connection they recalled his famous letter of congratulation to Calvin Coolridge, a Republican, when he was re-elected Governor of Massachusetts.

Will Fight Confirmation

A bitter fight will be waged in the Senate against confirmation of Colby as Secretary of State, several senators declared today upon hearing of his appointment. The opinion among Republican senators with the exception of a few Progressives was practically unanimous that Colby "won't do" but no member would permit his name to be used.

Though it is unusual for the Senate to oppose the President's selection of a cabinet member this appointment will be fought to a finish, senators declared today.

It was recalled by the Senate today that when he was nominated to the shipping board Colby's confirmation was vigorously opposed in the commerce committee and the Senate, his nomination going through by a narrow margin in both bodies.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 25—Brainbridge Colby has been appointed Secretary of State to succeed Robert Lansing, it was announced at the White House today.

Colby's appointment came as even more of a surprise than the resignation of Lansing at Wilson's request. While Colby has been a strong supporter of the Wilson Administration he is regarded as a Progressive Republican and was actively identified with the campaign of Theodore Roosevelt for the Republican presidential nomination in 1912. Later he was a candidate for governor and the Senate of New York on the Progressive ticket.

The first hint of Colby's appointment came a few minutes before the formal announcement by Secretary Tumulty. The early reports that he would get the place were not generally credited. Following the announcement of the appointment Colby appeared at the White House and was taken to see President Wilson. Colby's last connection with the Wilson Administration was when he was a member of the United States Shipping board. He resigned from that a few months ago. Colby is a lawyer. His home is in New York. He was born in 1869.

COUNCIL OF PREMIERS HAVE AND ARE DISCUSSING WILSON NOTE ON FIUME

LONDON, Feb. 25—President Wilson's reply to the Allied communication in response to the recent Adriatic note was delivered to the Council of Premiers immediately after noon today. The President's note, it was understood, deals exclusively with the Adriatic situation. The Council immediately began discussion of the note, it was learned.

SLAUGHTER OF ARMENIANS CONTINUES

PARIS, Feb. 25—More than 20,000 Armenians have been slaughtered by the Turks at Murash, Turkish Asia-Minor, a dispatch to the Armenian delegation declared. The dispatch declared the situation in Selisia, Turkish Asia-Minor was criticall Since the French troops have evacuated this district massacres have been continuing.

FINDS THEt PRESIDENT AS "COCKY AS HELL"

WASHINGTON, Feb. 25— Don't make any mistake about the President; we found him cocky as hell."

So one of the three railroad union chiefs who recently saw the President on the White House portico told his associates here from the outside districts to attend the wage conference.

"He sat there with a blanket around him; we didn't see his left hand. He had a golf cap perched on one side of his head. He sure looked cocky. Lee told him the profiteers were making all of the trouble. He told Lee he'd like to get a good chance at them. I'd like to put them in the front line trenches,' he said.

"The President is thinner than he was. He has lost a lot of weight and his face looks longer, but he seemed to be coming along all right. And I said we didn't see his left hand but I'll tell the world there was nothing the matter with his right. He's got a grip like a prize fighter.'"

MRS. EDITH B. DILL PASSES AWAY

Mrs. Edith Boynton Dill passed away last evening at 6 o'clock at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Alexander Ennis Patton, in St. Davids, a suburb of Philadelphia, aged 75 years.

Mrs. Dill suffered a paralytic stroke several weeks ago, while visiting her daughter and had since lingered in a critical condition. Her loved ones were at her bedside when the final summons came.

The remains will be brought to the Dill home in Clearfield on the 6:45 Pennsylvania train tomorrow evening, where the funeral, which will be private, will be held. Interment will be made at Curwensville Friday morning, following the arrival of the Pennsylvania passenger train.

Mrs. Dill was the daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Jonothan Boynton, and thus a member of one of Clearfield's oldest, best known and most highly respected families. She is survived by four daughters and a son, as follows: Mrs. Alexander Ennis Patton, of St. Davids and Curwensville; Mrs. Anna Rey, Mrs. F. B. Reed and Miss Alice H. and Henry G. Dill, of Clearfield.

In each case a rule shall issue on the licensee, returnable the first Monday of May, 1920, requiring him to show cause why the order now made should not be vacated.

If information shall be brought to the court that the licensee is not maintaining his tavern as a place of accomodation to the public as to meals and lodging, the license will be revoked.

In addition to the above orders, Judge Bell also handed down the following decree, which is especially applicable to those licenses not granted at this time:

In Re Liquor Licenses

Under the laws of Pennsylvania the sale, as a beverage, of any vinous, malt or brewed liquors or admixture thereof, containing any alcohol is a violation of law though alcohol be not an essential ingredient of the liquor and though it is not intoxicating. Com. vs. Wenzel, 24 Penna. Superior Court 467. The policy of the law of Pennsylvania has long been that sales of such liquors at retail shall be made only in connection with the furnishing of accommodation to the traveling public and such accommodation requires that the public be furnished, freely, upon fair terms, both meals and lodging. The recent Amendment to the Constitution of the United States and the federal legislation enacted thereunder is not as broad in scope as the state laws on the subject, and one of two conclusions is inevitable. If the state laws are superseded, then sales of such liquors, in so far as the time is not prohibited by Federal enactment, may be made by anybody, and also it follows that there is not in force any law of the State by which sales of liquor of improper character to prohibited persons or places may be punished under the State laws. To hold that there can be no prosecutions in the State for sales of liquor on Sunday, to minors and other sales which were prohibted by our legislation, might relieve the Court, but if all these matters are to be controled solely by federal action one result would be very far from that which is desirable. The other position is that the State laws, penal and otherwise, remain in force except so far as the prohibitions of the federal laws overlap, and this is the conclusion which was reached by the District Attorney and myself some time ago and which has been recently stated in an official opinion of the Attorney General of Pennsylvania. We are aware that there is a difference of view among the Courts that have so far spoken upon the question, but we see no reason for changing our previous opinion. The rule was long ago laid down by the United States Supreme Court, in Barbier vs. Connelly, 113 U. S. 27, that the police power of a State could be limited only to the extent of the Federal power under the Constitution, and applying this principle there seems to us to be no doubt that the State law remains in force. Prior to the Federal Amendment a license under the State law was a license to make such sales as were not prohibited by the State. At the present time such a license authorizes the holder to make such sales as are not prohibited by the State or by the United States, and this is the only difference that has been created.

With this view of the case we propose to grant all licenses subject to the prohibitions and restrictions imposed by the Constitutional Amendment, and as the extent of these restrictions have not yet been definitely settled by the Supreme Court of the United States, and for the further reason that no license will be permitted to be exercised unless the holder shall, if a retailer, furnish the accommodations to the public which is contemplated by the Act of Assembly, a rule to show cause why the order granting the license should not be revoked will issue to each licensee. Where the facts are not already known to the Court applicants must furnish evidence that the place asked for will continue to be operated as a hotel by the person applying for the license, and this must be done before the list is further disposed of.

By the Court,
SINGLETON BELL, P. J.

MICHIGAN RUM REVOLT COLLAPSES

IRON CITY, MICH., Feb. 25—Michigan's "rum revolt" collapsed today. In place of war between prohibition officials and county officials over alleged interference with prohibition enforcement laws a call has been issued for a conference between all concerned. Acting on advice from Washington, Major A. V. Dalrymple, Prohibition commissioner from the central states dropped his war-like preparations. Instead of arresting Attorney M. S. McDonough, Dalrymple requested that official to accompany him to Grand Rapids, Mich., for a conference with United States District Attorney Bryon H. Walker.

GASOLINE TO SOAR AGAIN

PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 25—Still higher prices for gasoline and other petroleum products were predicted here today by C. D. Chamberlain, general counsel for the National Petroleum Association, Chamberlain who has served as chairman of the convention of oil men from all sections of Pennsylvania placed the blame for the high prices of gasoline squarely upon the shoulders of the Pennsylvania and West Virginia oil producers.

Rail Unions Heads Framing Request To Send Wilson

Asking President To Veto The Esch-Cummins Bill And Set Up A Wage Tribunal

WILL CARRY FIGHTS TO COURTS

WASHINGTON, Feb. 25—A special committee of railroad union leaders went into extraordinary session today to frame a note to President Wilson containing a direct request that he veto the Cummins-Esch bill. Wilson is studying the bill. Union leaders say they will continue their fight against it even if it becomes a law. President Bert M. Jewell of the Railway department of the American Federation of Labor said there are several steps the railroad unions will take if the bill is signed by the President. One such measure would be to sue to test the constitutionality of the law. The union men want their wage controversy placed before a special tribunal to be appointed by President Wilson and representing only the roads and the employes. The court of arbitration set by up the Cummins-Esch bill gives them 1-3 representation at the court. Labor men said they believed that if the Cummins Esch bill is allowed to become a law they will be delivered completely into the hands of the roads.

LOANS MADE BY AMERICANS TO NATIONS OF EUROPE BEING PAID

Since the war loans were placed by American bankers various of the issues, have become due, and except as to Russia issues, all have been paid at maturity. The aggregate of the loans paid off as great. In this connection the following schedule prepared for the London Times by Thomas W. Lamont, of J. P. Morgan & Co., is interesting.

The amount of foreign government issues placed here, the amount that has been paid and the amount still held here are, subject to minor error, as follows:

MINISTER ERZBERGER TO BE SUSPENDED

BERLIN, Feb. 24 (Delayed)—President Ebert has asked that Mathias Erzberger minister of finance be suspended from his ministry until cleared of the charges that he falsified in personal tax returns, it was learned today. The President's decision, it was generally believed, will end Erzberger's connection with the ministry. The under secretary of state will assume Erzberger's position. Erzberger's trial will determine the truth or falsity of the charges made in a Hamburg newspaper. The newspaper declared that Erzberger had underestimated his personal wealth basing the tax on only a nominal income.

"Bill Apperson's Boy"

Here is one of the most human, appealing dramas ever presented in the realm of the silent drama. Bill Appearson is a rough, uncouth Kentuckey mountaineer, but Tad, his boy is "somehow different." When Bill's wife dies, he marries again, and Tad, who has never become reconciled to his mother's death, drives his step-mother from the house—then something happens! "Bill Apperson's Boy" is a strong dramatic story, tinged with pathos, brightened with humor, beautifully interpreted and splendidly directed; it laws an irresistible grasp upon the sympathies. Truly a big picture in every way.

Time.

Now, for the truth of things, time makes no alteration; things are still the same as they are, let the time be past, present, or to come. Those things which we reverence for antiquity, what were they at their first birth? Were they false?—Time cannot make them true. Were they true?—Time cannot make them more true. The circumstance, therefore, of time, in respect of truth and error, is merely impertinent.—John Hales (1628).

P. O. S. OF A. FORMS CENTRAL PA. DIST. ASSOCIATION

In accordance with actiqon decided upon at the semi-annual convention of the P. O. S. of A., held in the Altoona temple on New Years' Day, a committee of delegates appointed at that time, last evening effected the organization of the Central Pennsylvania P. O. S. of A. district association.

This committee, composed of delegates from the eleven countie represented in the new formed association, performed the will of 12,775 of the membership of the counties of Blair, Cambria, Clearfield, Somerset, Bedford, Huntingdon, Center, Mifflin, Union, Snyder and Clinton. Through this unification of the different camps throughout these counties, it is anticipated that the future annals of the history of the P. O. S. of A. in this section will be one of great growth and development.

The officials of the Central Pennsylvania P. O. S. of A. district association elected last night are: First Past President, E. S. Ripka, of Center Hall; president, C. L. Nonemaker, past state president of the P. O. S. of A.; vice president, W. L. Holton, Morrisdale; secretary, Clarence Silknitter, Huntingdon; treasurer, M. R. Johnson, Bellefonte; assistant secretary, Charles Shore, Mapleton.

The first convention of the association is scheduled to convene in the Altoona temple, July 22, 1920. Delegates to the convention will be selected on the basis of one to each fifty members or fraction thereof, of the subordinate camps in these eleven counties. Thus, it can be seen, that several hundred delegates will be able to attend this convention, whose sessions are awaited with much interest by the P. O. S. of A. body. In connection with the convention, a program of events designed to be of general interest to the public will be worked out, the features of which will be announced at a later date.

The idea of the association is patterned after similar organizations in the east, and sections of Pennsylvania where the membership is much stronger. It is believed to be a step in the line of progress which will eventually react to the greatest possible good of the P. O. S. of A.

MUST RECORD PURCHASES OF SECOND HAND AUTOS

Under the act of 1919 all persons who purchase second hand automobiles are required to file an affidavit with the chief of police and another with the highway department. It is reported that many persons are failing to comply with the requirements of this act and are liable to fines ranging from $300 to $1,000. Residents of Clearfield will do well to bear the law in mind if they are contemplating the purchase of a second hand car. He cannot operate such a car until he has procured a license in his own name, the life of the original license expiring when the car passes from the ownership of the person who took out the original license.

Give Me a Friendly, Natural Hand-shake

an' a friendly natural tobacco. Keep yo' put-on airs an' "sauced-up" tobaccos for the fellow that likes nut sundaes better than home made pie—

So says a friend of ours named Velvet Joe. And he just about hits the nail on the head.

Velvet is made for men who think there's no smoke like real tobacco. If you are that sort of man, listen:

Velvet was born in old Kentucky, where more than one good thing comes from. It was raised as carefully as any other Kentucky thoroughbred. But the real secret of Velvet's friendly qualities is its slow natural ageing in wooden hogsheads. Ageing in the wood never hurt anything—and least of all, tobacco.

And so we say, Velvet is good tobacco—nothing more or less. It runs second to none.

Air Power.

An Italian inventor has produced a scheme by which vehicles of wheels and carriages and springs are to be propelled by air. According to the accounts, the scheme is to have huge tanks by the wayside holding vast quantities of compressed air. Locomotives and automobiles and tractors and motorcycles can run alongside and connect their tanks to the mother tank, get a lot of compressed air on board and run to the next stop.

Explains Sodom and Gomorrah.

Bricks cemented together with dried petroleum have curiously enough, been found in large quantities in Nineveh and Babylon. The oil-bearing and sulphur-impregnated shales of the valley of the Dead sea, which are now being developed, supplied the "brimstone and fire" which destroyed Sodom and Gomorrah.

Farmer's Hard Luck.

Earth in the upper peninsula is so kind that, tickle her with a hoe and she laughs with a harvest, but there are some drawbacks, it seems. A farmer down at Au Train put out cabbage one year, and grew perfectly marvelous heads weighing, every one of them, forty pounds or less, but goregone the luck, next year the piece was just like cut-over land again, and it took the farmer all season to clean out the cabbage stumps.—Detroit News.

SHINY, DAZZLING ATTIRE TO GREET SPRING GIRL

BY MARGARET RHOE

(Written for The United Press)

In days of yore to be a shine
A sort of "cheap dub" meant
But these Spring days if she's ashine
Milady is content.

NEW YORK, Feb 23.—To be shiny at the seams seems to be the correct caper for Spring attire. In fact not only seams ashine will be seemly but your costume in toto from the top of your oilcloth hat to the toe of your patent leather pump must gleam with a high light polish.

Hats that are not of oilcloth have their straw surfaces brilliantly lacquered or are of glazed satin or of gras cloth with a luster finish. Glazed satin ribbons are used for trimmings. Indeed the chapeau that isn't glossy isn't flossy.

For suits and frocks glazed satins, shiny taffetas and other fabrics that have been treated with a peculiar lacquer process are the ones the designers have taken a shine to for their Spring time offerings. These glazed and lacquered materials are by no means stiff or cumbersome, but light and supple as they are lustrous and shimmery.

Many of the smartest little taffeta, serge and tricotine models show lavish trimming of oilcloth in the form of bandings, patch pockets, appliqued designs and buttons. Fascinating accessories of the shiny black oilcloth embroidered and stitched in gay hued yarns come in sets of hand bag, belt and hat to match for the maid addicted to sport attire.

Combinations of red and blue are very good this season and many is the serge dress that is resplendent with bands of bright red leather stitched at distinctive spots upon its surface where they will give the most chic effects. Red flannel is another smart fabric for the touch of scarlet trimming so much in demand and so that it may also have its full quota of shininess it is flecked and embroidered in golden threads. There is something almost martial in this dashing combination of blue and gold and red that subtley suggests the military uniforms of our very best little circus bands. Probably that is why this vivid red and gold embellishment is applied mostly as a banding, yes?

All sorts of glittering jewelry adds to the general shininess of milady's Spring getup. Bakers' dozens of bracelets which are glistening bands of brilliants adorn each arm, dangling earrings, a jeweled baulble bobbing on a gem incrusted chain and several stunning rings besides the inevitable pinky without which in some unusual and bizarre form no little finger would dare crook itself swankily above the chic teacup.

The dazzle of cut-steel buckels add blinding gleams from the high-polished expanse of short vamped colonial pumps of patent kid, finger nails shimmer with the extra high rosy polish of the last word in manicures, eyes rival star-shine, scarlet lips gleam with the sheen of the latest hectic rouge. Indeed extreme shininess is a feature of the model Spring maid save for one feature, and that's a shiny nose.

First Clockmaker Unknown.

It is uncertain when the first clock was constructed. Its invention is claimed by many nations. There is a tradition that the first clock was invented by the Chinese in the year 2000 B. C., and another that it was invented in Germany in the eleventh century. The first clock of which we have any description is the one which was set in the tower of the palace of Charles V of France in 1370 by a man named Henry DeVick.

Bit of Ancient History.

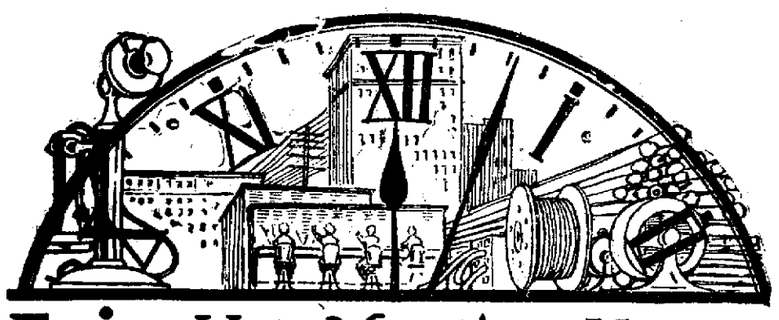
According to old Anglo-Saxon chronicles Edward the Confessor made a verbal will. On January 5, 1066, he recovered his power of speech and talked with those around him, among whom were the queen, the archbishop of York, archbishop of Canterbury and Harold and Tostig, his nephews. He prophesied the Norman invasion and then, stretching out his hand, bequeathed the crown to Harold. This act was ratified by the ancient British parliament and Harold was crowned the next day.—Exchange.

Common Superstitions.

Most people are superstitious. With some the breaking of a looking glass means a gloomy foreboding. Peacock feathers were formerly considered bearers of sickness. The Greeks and Romans of ancient times put implicit trust in omens and never undertook enterprises of any moment without consulting the oracle.

Many Accidental Drownings.

Accidental drowning caused 5,550 deaths, or 7.4 per 100,000, in this country last year. This rate is considerably less than that for any preceding year since 1910, and is also decidedly below the average for the decade 1901-1910.



Every Hour You Are Using-

A TELEPHONE plant that is subject to all the wear and tear of any complex structure.

A plant which in Pennsylvania requires 16,000 people to operate.

Labor and materials, then, are the principal operating costs. And what has happened to them since the war began?

Here are a few examples of how they have increased.

Wages	81%
Telephone buildings	110%
Switchboards and equipment	75%
Batteries	123%
Poles, crossarms, etc.	70%
Cables	60 to 65%

And today the rates are just what they were before the war.

Is this safe—is it sound—is it good business?

Adequate rates will save the service, and nothing else will. It is a serious situation, and it concerns every telephone user.

INTERCHURCH SURVEY IN PENNSYLVANIA IS NEARING COMPLETION

Churchmen and Laymen in Each County are Gathering Data

The rural survey being conducted in Western Pennsylvania by the Interchurch World Movement as part of the world survey of religious and social conditions is rapidly being completed and in some counties is almost finished.

The mass of information compiled as a result of this survey will give a knowledge of the American people, their homes, living conditions, industries, recreations and religious affairs that has never before been possible. No United States census and no previous church or social survey has ever gathered such varied information about so many people as the Interchurch Movement workers are now getting together.

County Survey Heads.

The rural survey work in the counties of Western Pennsylvania is being done under the leadership of ministers and laymen of various denominations. In Allegheny county it is being directed by Rev. Paul H. Rupp of McKeesport, Armstrong county by Rev. Daniel D. Earl of Plumville, Beaver county by Rev. D. E. McCoy of Murdocksville, Bedford county by Rev. David M. Kerr of Shellburg, Blair county by Rev. C. E. McCurdy of Altoona, R. D.; Butler county by Rev. J. I. Lauffer of Evans City, Cambria county by Rev. Edwin O. Marks of Johnstown, Cameron county by Rev. Harry Daniels of Sinnemahoning, Center county by Rev. R. R. Jones of Center Hall, Clearfield county by Rev. E. L. Ritzman of Munson, Clinton county by Rev. William E. Harr of Lock Haven, Crawford county by Rev. J. S. Cleveland of Conneaut Lake, Elk county by Rev. R. A. Reed of Ridgeway, Erie county by Rev. E. E. Lashley of Union City, Fayette county by Rev. I. G. Nace of Connellsville, Forest county by Rev. Frank P. Martin of Tionesta, Huntingdon county by Rev. W. W. Willard of Warrior's Mark, Jefferson county by Rev. J. M. Weber of Punxsutawney, Lawrence county by Rev. H. W. Fung of Ellwood City, McKean county by Rev. E. J. Fairweather of Eldred, Mercer county by Mr. C. E. Brockway of Sharon, Potter county by Rev. T. Vassar Caulkins of Coudersport, Somerset county by Rev. G. E. Buhan of Rockwood, Venango county by Rev. P. T. Griffiths of Franklin, Warren county by Rev. S. C. Anderson of Warren, Washington county by Rev. H. A. W. Riddle of Alexander and Rev. Paul Miller of Canonsburg, Westmoreland county by Rev. Robert C. Betts of Latrobe.

County Used As Unit.

The county is being used as the unit of study in the home survey. Survey workers in the rural districts make first a map of the county. On this is indicated the location of every church and school, every farm house and social center, every railroad and garage and garage club.

The range of influence of each church is indicated so that it is possible to see at once where the work of two or more churches overlap and where homes or parts of communities are not being reached by any church.

The completed survey will reveal to each county the actual facts concerning religious conditions within its boundaries and with this as a basis it is expected that the county churchmen themselves will plan for interdenominational work in taking care of their particular problems.

Out of the local plans, state and national program will be formulated determining the responsibility of the whole church toward the various causes of the world unrest and in the pressing social and industrial problems.

PROTESTANTISM IN AFRICA

Africa is awakening to the realization of its commercial value. Western nations are linking its peoples and vast resources with their civilization. The orient is likewise at work. Islam is especially active and offers a debasing religion, with a measure of civilizing power, to credulous peoples. The interchurch world survey shows that Africa has one Protestant minister or missionary to every 73,782 population. Christianity, the only religion which really civilizes, is doing far too little to fulfill its mission. If it delays much longer, Islam and materialism will divide Africa between them.

THE MEASURE OF CIVILZATION

The impact of western civilization which in the extreme north of Africa is changing the status of woman, has a very direct bearing on education. In the Moslem system her place has been well described by an Oriental writer, as that of "a frog at the bottom of a deep well." A young Egyptian Bey, who recently overheard an old Mohammedan sheikh say that girls should not stay long at school, immediately flashed out: "That day is past. Our country can never be great until our women are properly taught." Here again is one of the Christian church's great opportunities.

ASQUITH GETS SEAT IN COMMONS

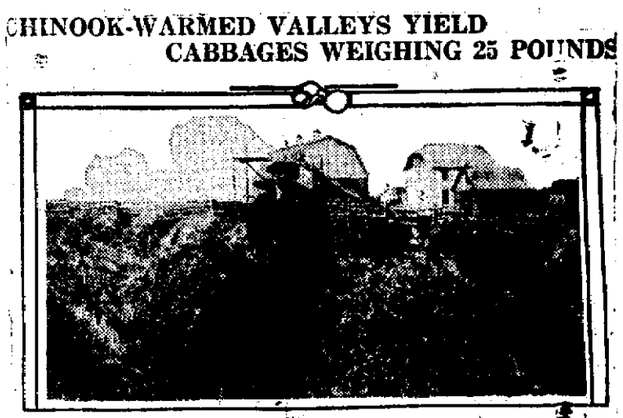
LONDON, Feb. 25—Herbert Asquith, former premier, has been elected to the House of Commons from the Paisley district, it was officially announced today. The election was held February 12, but according to the British custom the result was not announced until today. The election was followed with great interest throughout Great Britain.

Politicians see in the candidacy of the former premier "an attempt to come back to regain his powerful position in British affairs."

TO GET EARLY REPORT ON RUSSIA

LONDON, Feb. 25—The Council of Premiers will lose no time in obtaining its report on conditions in Russia it was indicated today. The Council has requested Albert Thomas, Director of the International Labor Bureau, of the League of Nations to report on the Russian situation by March 22. The report, it was said, will be forwarded through the League.

CHINOOK-WARMED VALLEYS YIELD CABBAGES WEIGHING 25 POUNDS



Oats in Nechako Valley

Garden Variety Size in British Columbia

VANCOUVER, B. C.—Cabbages weighing twenty-five pounds each, that a six-year-old child can hide behind, wheat over a man's head and forty-five bushels to the acre, oats up to a horse's shoulders—these are some of the products of the rich farming lands warmed by chinook winds in British Columbia.

Settlers in British Columbia have a variety of land to choose from. Of the 250,000,000 acres in the province, 92,000,000 are forest lands, and of this area 33,000,000 acres carry merchantable timber. Once cleared, much of this land is as rich agriculturally as any in Canada. The clearing of the land is a source of great profit and numerous saw-mills furnish a convenient market. The timber industry of the province is being rapidly developed. Devastated Europe is clamoring for all the timber America can supply and the Panama canal opens to British Columbia a direct sea route for an immense lumber trade.

There are, also, many valleys and rolling lands along the rivers and watercourses whose soil is declared by experts, to be as rich as any on the continent. Two districts already have been surveyed by the government and laid out for settlement. One comprises 35,000 acres in the Nechako valley around Vanderhoof, and the other, 15,000 acres in Bulkeley valley. While the lands are rated as good for grain as those of the prairie provinces of Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta, British Columbia farmers have gone in for mixed farming and find it pays better in the long run than to stake all their year's prospects on a single crop of wheat.

Y. M. C. A. NOTES

A large crowd of men and boys were pleased with the talk last night on "A Soldier's Life Aboard a U. S. Army Transport."

The school girls will have the use of the gymnasium every Tuesday from 4 to 5, and Saturday from 2 to 4 o'clock, for class work and games.

Several free scholarships have been granted to our Clearfield boys. Their names and courses will be announced later.

On Saturday, February 28th, the "Y." girls will travel to Tyrone to play the "Y" girls' team of that city.

On Friday evening, March 5th, the DuBois girls will play at Clearfield on the Y. M. C. A. gym floor.

Several men are using our bath, shower and electric sweat bath. We have an experienced massager.

An Early Start.

The punishment of one reckless truck driver should serve as a warning to many others who are daily offending in this respect. It should not be necessary to go into detail and mention any more names or specific instances. In the first place it should not have been necessary for any newspaer or private citizen to bring to the bar of justice those who offend in this manner. We have officers who are just as bound to regulate traffic as they are to perform the duties of preserving the peace. Since the advent of prohibition our police force have not been called upon to curb the ravages of drink crazed men. Would it not be well for our police officers to apply themselves to the enforcement of all our borough laws? Almost daily motorists can be seen disregarding the turn to the right rule at the flag pole on the diamond. What is wrong? Is the traffic law to be winked at or obeyed by one and all every day in the year?

OH, FOR THE WISDOM OF SOLOMON

We do not have the "legal mind," that mental attribute which enables a lawyer to interpret the mysteries of court rules and orders and the procedure and recedents of jurisprudence and we timidly venture to assert that the average hotel man is in much the same predicament that we find ourselves. Perhaps we understand aright, perhaps wrong, but as we figure it out, the Clearfield County License Court opines that the Brooks License Law is still in effect and under it the Court can grant licenses providing the licensee agrees to abide by all its requirements. The Brooks License law has not been repealed or annuled and the hotel man who craves the right to sell liquor has his old time rights under it. However, the hotelman is in about the same sad plight as little "Orphant Annie" who is told by an indulgent Aunt Pennsy to go ahead and taste the jam in the cupboard while stern old Uncle Samuel warns that he will spank if she does. And we believe he will at that.

VARIOUS KINDS OF ADVERTISING

There are many kinds of advertising but not all of them pay. Merchants think they can draw trade by defacing country roads and city vacant lots with tehir billboards. They distribute circulars wholesale, meanwhile more or less neglecting the opportunity the newspaper gives.

Newspaper advertising is read because people have paid good money for the newspaper, and they feel interested to get all it contains. They sit down to read it with the preconception that it is going to have interesting things in it, and among the most attractive of these things is always the advertising.

Other kinds of advertising do not start with this preconception. A man has paid nothing for a circular and didn't ask for it or want it. Consequently he throws it away. Circular advertising, of course, has its uses and is sometimes desirable for supplementary use, but as compared with newspaper publicity it is far less efficient. Similarly people dislike staring billboards and one's impression on seeing them is a feeling of dislike. Nobody is convinced by forcing advertising on them. People are interested by seeing advertising in a thing they have bought and paid for.

KEEP LOOKING YOUNG

It's Easy—If You Know Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets

The secret of keeping young is to feel young—to do this you must watch your liver and bowels—there's no need of having a sallow complexion—dark rings under your eyes—pimples—a bilious look in your face—dull eyes with no sparkle. Your doctor will tell you ninety per cent of all sickness comes from inactive bowels and liver.

Dr. Edwards, a well-known physician in Ohio, perfected a vegetable compound mixed with olive oil to act on the liver and bowels, which he gave to his patients for years.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets, the substitute for calomel, are gentle in their action yet always effective. They bring about that natural buoyancy which all should enjoy by toning up the liver and clearing the system of impurities.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets are known by their olive color. 10c and 25c.

Co. 'K.' of The Bucktails

A Short History And Some Incidents in The Soldier Life of Captain John H. Norris

During the past year The Progress has promised its readers a history of Co. K, the Clearfield county organization with Col Kane's famous First Bucktails. The death of Captain John H. Norris has reminded us of this promise, and we submit a complete roster of Company K enlisted at Curwensville, which was formerly known as the "First Bucktails". This company was attached to the regiment which was already known as the "First Rifles, Pennsylvania Reserves Bucktails." When it first entered upon active service it was occasionally referred to as the "Kane Rifles" but in a short time "Bucktails" became the almost universal designation of the regiment, and the one by which it was known throughout the two armies. The individual name of this particular company, however, as adopted by its officers was the "Raftmen's Rangers."

The Raftsmens Rangers were recruited in Curwensville, Clearfield county, headquarters being established at an hotel known as "Good Intent and People's Line." The men were for the most part lumbermen drawn from the mountainous districts skilled in the use of the axe and the rifle. On April 18th, Edward A. Irvin, who upon the firing upon Fort Sumter and the issuance of President Lincoln's call for troops had returned to Curwensville from a business trip, opened, with the assistance of W. Ross Hartshorne, James W. Welch and John P. Bard, a recruiting station, where names were secured rapidly, among the first of which were those of David C. Dale, John H. Norris and Lewis Hoover. Securing the assistance of Daniel G. Blett, a former commander of a company in Lewistown, Pa., drilling was commenced and continued assiduously. On May 9th elections for officers were held, and on the following morning at 4 A. M. the company marched to the nearest railroad station, at that time Tyrone, thirty-six miles away. Despite the early hour of the company's departure, the people of the neighborhood assembled and a considerable demonstration was made. Before starting, the company was presented with a silk flag by Mrs. Jane P. Irvin. This flag afterwards served as the regimental colors from Second Bull Run to Fredericksburg, and is now in the possession of Hugh M. Irvin son of the late Colonel E. A. Irvin, at Curwensville.

On the arrival of the men at Tyrone, it was discovered that transportation would be furnished for only 100 men. As the company contained 123, it was necessary to send back 23. In deciding upon those to be left behind, the married men were selected first, and thus it came about that there were in the company, when it boarded the cars, only single men.

Captain, Edward A. Irvin
First Lieutenant, W. Ross Hartshorne
Second Lieutenant, James Welch

The Progress is not prepared at this time to furnish a roster or history of Company B of the 149th Pennsylvania Volunteers but within a very short time a description of the activities of this splendid organization will appear in our columns. We furnish, however, a roster of Company K of the old "Bucktails" or "Raftsmen's Rangers," which is printed below.

EVERETT, PA.—"The length of time that we used Dr. Pierce's medicines I believe will testify to the fact that they have given entire satisfaction. I think I am safe in saying that we have used Dr Pierce's Pleasant Pellets for 35 years and have found them superior to all other medicines as a stomach remedy. We always found them mild in their operation but very effective. I have also used Doctor Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery (an herbal tonic and blood builder) off and on for 25 years. That I am living today, I attribute to the use of the 'Golden Medical Discovery.' My daughters as well as my sons have also made liberal use of it with great benefit to themselves.

"My daughters (I have six) and myself have all used Doctor Pierce's Favorite Prescription as a woman's tonic and have realized the greatest benefit from it. The fact is, we would find it almost impossible to get along without Dr. Pierce's medicines. Our doctor bills have been almost negligible."—MRS. M. L. MYERS, 252 West Main Street, EVERETT.

Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription and Golden Medical Discovery are not secret remedies for the ingredients are printed on each wrapper. These medicines contain no alcohol or narcotics.

Send Doctor Pierce's Invalids' Hotel and Surgical Institute, Buffalo, N. Y., ten cents for trial package of any of his remedies.

GLASS OF SAKTS CLEANS KIDNEYS

When your kidneys hurt and your back feel sore, don't get scared and proceed to load your stomach with a lot of drugs that excite the kidneys and irritate the entire urinary tract. Keep your kidneys clean like you keep your bowels clean, by flushing them with a mild, harmless salts which removes the body's urinous waste and stimulates them to their normal activity. The function of the kidneys is to filter the blood. In 24 hours they strain from it 500 grains of acid and waste, so we can readily understand the vital importance of keeping the kidneys active.

Drink lots of water—you can't drink too much; also get from any pharmacist about four ounces of Jad Salts; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast each morning for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to clean and stimulate clogged kidneys; also to neutralize the acids in urine so it no longer is a source of irritation, thus ending bladder weakness.

Jad Salts is inexpensive; cannot injure; makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink which everyone should take now and then to keep kidneys clean and active. Try this, also keep up the water drinking, and no doubt you will wonder what became of your kidney trouble and backache.

The A. H. Woodward Bible Class of Trinity Methodist Sunday school will hold a business and social meeting at the home of Mrs. Andrus C. Williams, 407 Cherry street on Tuesday evening, February 24th. A full attendance is requested.

Next War To Be Perfection of Scientific Butchery

Experts Say Science And Arts Insure More Wanton Waste And Destruction Than Before

Since the world was startled over the unheard of inventions for destruction in the World War, including wireless telegraphy, aviation, depth bombs and submarines, long range rifles and the like, people have been asking "What will become of the world in the next war?"

Henry Wood, United Press Staff Correspondent at Paris has asked French scientific and military leaders to discuss possibilities of destruction in the next world conflagration, which they declare is not beyond the realm of probability. Herewith is given the first of six stories consisting of statements from those in France most fitted to talk on the subject.

Three of them are members of the world famous French Academy of Sciences and as a consequence, most qualified to speak from the respective standpoints of wireless telegraphy, chemistry and self-propelling projectiles, while the others are the highest possible experts in aviation, naval and land warfare.

These men, each of whom contributes his of the next great war, are Monsieur Edouard Branly, French inventor and developer of wireless telegraphy; Monsieur Paul Painleve, former war minister and recognized French scientist; Monsieur Moureu, chemist professor of the College of France and founder of the French confederation of scientific work; Monsieur Bechereau, aviation engineer and expert; General Debeney, now Director of the School of War and one of the most successful French generals in the final smashup of the German army on the western front, and finally Commandant X., one of the highest authorities of the French navy, but whose name naval etiquette does not permit to be used.

Here is the first:

By EDOUARD BRANLY
(French inventor)

"It is certain that every time someone discovers something new, the first idea is to apply it to war, and immediately people get busy to make machines improving the science that helps killing.

"As soon as avilation existed, it was used to increase the horrors of war. The progress of chemistry has been employed to make the worst asphyxiating gas.

"The progress of aviation especially is formidable and disquieting. Since an airplane can carry through the air several tons of bombs, and running at great speed, I am inclined to think that it may be an urgent question to take up, in peace time, of digging underneath the ground of cities, deep underground abris, for, should war break out, there would be no more safety for anybody on any point of land.

"Thus, the first idea of those who think of the possibility of a new war should be to build underground cities.

"We see airplanes able to carry 20, 30, 40 people and several tons of baggage. There will be machines soon which will carry a hundred persons. We see airplanes flying at a speed of 300 kilometres an hour. It means that within a few hours, giant airplanes leaving Berlin could come and drop on Paris, tons of bombs. If we were disarmed and we would let the Germans rebuild their aerial war material, under the pretext of making commercial airplanes, nothing would prevent them from putting us within two days in a frightful condition. Without even waiting an official declaration of war, hundreds of giant airplanes would come and set Paris afire. And the future war, if it happenedfi would be immensely more murderous than the one preceding because much more scientific.

"It is theoritically possible to produce destructive effects at a distance by wireless, but there are some difficulties. Suppose, for example, that they intend at Berlin to put Paris afire at a distance, by wireless. The necessary condition would be that there existed in Paris apparatus previously installed to receive the order. Whatever is the thing that is to be done between one place distant from another, there must be receptive apparatus minutiously prepared to execute it.

"During the war, we thought of blowing up German dumps by wireless. It could have been done, but owing to the lack of receptors fixed by ourselves inside the dumps there was no possibility of doing it. These receptors should have been placed in advance in caves dug underneath what we wanted to blow up.

"At sea, it is possible to throw in the middle of a fleet, some kind of ship built to be directed from a distant point to cause the explosion thru wireless, of a bomb, or several bombs. Such a ship might cause serious damage. But, in the present state of wireless, we must say that these orders, to be carried out, cannot be instantaneous. This means other difficulties to solve, which are not insurmountable.

"There could also be submarines, airplanes, purposely sacrificed, carrying no passengers, and which managed by wireless would cause similar explosions.

"Anyhow, from the fact only that the progress of aviation and chemistry grows so rapidly, the future war would be a most destructive one, not exclusively for the combatants but the unoffending civil populations as well."

EXIT THE COUNTRY DOCTOR

From all parts of the country, we are getting news that there are hundreds, yes thousands, of the smaller communities which are without doctors. There are two reasons for this situation—first reason, the great war, second, the automobile.

Thousands of physicians who served in the army, many of whom came from country localities, when they came back to civil life, sought something better than what they had before the war. They have settled in cities, and the exodus from civil life into the army, and from the army back into civil life, with all the readjustments this implies, has given good openings to many.

The big factor, however, is the automobile, linked up as it is with the good-roads movement. It now takes no longer for a doctor living in the city to run out fifteen or twenty miles into the country to visit patients than it did for the same doctor, ten years ago, to hitch up the old nag and drive out two or three miles. With the multiplication of hard roads, the automobile can be used the year around. As a consequence, the area readily accesible to the larger towns has grown larger and larger, and the competition of the man who remained in the country village more and more difficult; so, thousands of doctors have asked themselves this question—"Why shouldn't I get into the swim with the other fellow? Just because Smith lives in the city is no sign he knows more about the practise of medicine than I do; as a matter of fact, I know durn well that he doesn't know as much. I will go into town and show them a thing or two. I can hold all my business here, and he will have to hump himself some if he can beat me out, even on Main Street."

So, there you are!

But, here is a counter suggestion. There are a good many city doctors, especially those getting along in years, who feel a, though they would like to slow down a little, and who have always sighed for the pleasures of country life. To such men the Garden of Eden is a cottage in the country. Why shouldn't such men move into some of these beautiful country villages, which nowadays have most of the comforts of city life and many advantages which the city does not possess? In such a place a home can be bought for a song, with peace and quiet, a garden spot, fresh fruit and beautiful scenery, and an increasing number of people of large ideas, poetic and literary instincts—and little money!

If any city doctor who reads these lines would like to make a trade with a country doctor who is anxious to get into town, we beg to offer our services to help in making the exchange.

Step right up, doctor!

OBITUARY

JAMES H. DALE DEAD

James Henry Dale son of John and Martha Dale, pioneer settlers of Clearfield county, was born near Curwensville, December 27 1835, and died at his home in DuBois, February 24, 1920.

He is survived by his wife and the following children: Albert J. Dale, John W. Dale and Mrs. Annie Toote, of DuBois; Mrs. Minnie Toote, of Clearfield; Mrs. Myrta Goodfellow, of Indiana and Harry B Dale, of Harrisburg.

Mr. Dale was for many years engaged in the lumbering business and was one of the best known millwrights in this part of the state.

In his business life he was trusted and respected by all with whom he had dealings and at all times exercised a far reaching influence for good over the men who were employed by him.

After retiring from active life he located in DuBois and for a number of years has been employed as janitor of the Sandy High School building, in this capacity as in every other position giving honest service and honored by the teachers and pupils alike.

For seventy years he was a devoted member of the Methodist church and at the time of his death was a member of the Mt. Zion M. E chruch.

Funeral services will be conducted by his pastor at his late home on Denton avenue on Wednesday evening at 7:30 and on Friday his pastor will conduct services at the home of his daughter, Mrs. John E. Toote, in Clearfield, where the interment will take place.

JAMES H. FARRELL

James Henry Farrell, who died at his home on Sixth street at 12:30 on Sunday, February 22nd. 1920, after an illness of eight months duration, was in his 43rd year. He had been a respected resident of Clearfield for the past twenty years and for nearly all of that time was a valued employee of the New York Central Railroad Company. About one year ago he was elected secretary of the Board of Health, and Truant Officer of Clearfield, and served very acceptably in these positions until failing health forced him to give up active work some two or three months ago.

He was an active member of the Eleventh Street Methodist church and enjoyed the respect and esteem of a wide circle of friends. His funeral took place this afternoon at 2 o'clock from his late home, services being conducted by his pastor, Rev. John C. Collins.

He leaves to mourn the loss of a loving and devoted husband and father, his widow, two daughters and two sons. He is also survived by his mother, three brothers and four sisters, viz: M. L., T. F. and W. J. Farrell. Mrs. William Fister, Mrs. Edward Roessner, Mrs. Paul McDermott and Mrs. Hartswick Logan, all of Clearfield.

Gray, faded hair turned beautifully dark and lustrous almost over night, is a reality, if you'll take the trouble to mix sage tea and sulphur, but what is the use, you get a large bottle of the ready-to-use tonic, called "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound" at drug stores here. Millions of bottles of "Wyeth's" are sold annually, says a well-known druggist, because it darkens the hair so naturally and evenly that no one can tell it has happened.

You just dampen a sponge or soft brush with it Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur and draw it through your hair, taking one small strand at a time. Those whose hair is turning gray, becoming faded, dry, scraggly and thin have a surprise awaiting them, because after just one application the gray hair vanishes and your locks become luxuriantly dark and beautiful.

This is the age of youth, gray-haired, unattractive folks aren't wanted around, so get busy with the Sage and Sulphur tonight and you'll be amazed at your youthful appearance and the real beauty and healthy condition of your hair within a few days. Inquiry at drug stores here shows that they all sell lots of "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur" and the folks using it are enthusiastic. This preparation is a delightful toilet requisite. It is not intended for the cure, mitigation or prevention of disease.

Mr. Woods Land Owner

Have you calculated the value of your woods land from a study of the growth of the various species of trees now growing on it? Do you know that the scarcity and price of lumber products has revolutionized former estimates of values?

Do you know that had your timber been of marketable size and had not grown any in the past twenty years, that as an investment it would have paid you 9 per cent. interest to have held it until the present time, due to advance in price?

Do you know that during those twenty years, had your timber been 12 inches in diameter, it would now be 20 inches in diameter, or would have increased in volume 170 per cent. and would have paid you interest at the rate of 8 1-2 per cent. due to growth.

Do you know that with a spacing 20 feet apart each way one acre will produce 110 trees and that trees 20 inches in diameter will yield an average of 250 feet board measure, or 27,500 feet per acre, besides other products, such as bark, mine timber, paper wood, extract wood, chemical wood, etc.? Do you know that the sprouts and seedling of today will make mine timber, railroad ties, poles, piling, etc., within thirty-five years and in ten years more will make saw timber?

Do you know that of the sprouts, seedlings and immature trees that are destroyed by blight, insects, storm, fungi, sleet, lightning, fire, etc. that 90 per cent. is destroyed by forest fires. Do you know that users of forest products in Pennsylvania in 1919 paid $30,000,000.00 for freight on forest products shipped into the states, and that the freight on products manufactured and used within the state will exceed that amount.

Do you know that the late spring forest fires destroy five birds per acre, one rabbit for each two acres, one pheasant for each four acres, together with other game in lesser proportions, besides destroying berries, nuts, shelter and water supply for all kinds of game, fish and wild life.

The Central Pennsylvania Forest Fire Protective Association was organized in 1913 for the purpose of protecting, cultivating and utilizing the forests and has done a lot of good work in the vicinity of Snow Shoe, Pa, more information of which may be had from W. C. Snyder of the Lehigh Valley Coal Co. of that place. The state government will contribute an equal amount to that expended by the association for extinguishing or preventing forest fires, as is provided in an act of June 4th, 1915, and will co-operate in many other ways. With the advantage of local management this offers a very good means of protecting the forests. Membership in the association will cost as follows:

Life membership	$25.00
Contributory membership	$5.00
Annual membership	$1.00

Landowners wishing to become a member, with less than 200 acres of land will be taken in under the annual membership class. Landowners having more than 200 acres will be charged not more than one cent per acre in addition to the annual membership charge.

Membership in this association will give you better fire protection, knowledge of how to obtain trees for planting, how to plant, what to plant, care for, manufacture and market your forest products, estimates of the value of mature and immature trees, more game, fish and wild life, better and more water, increased land values and an opportunity to contribute to the present and future welfare of your community.

In order to get this work started in the different communities before the spring fire season it will be necessary to have immediate action from those interested.

The organization of the First Bucktail regiment was due entirely to the efforts of Thomas Leiper Kane, a resident of McKean county, who had been active in abolition circles since boyhood, and became vested in the authority of Governor Curtin to organize a regiment composed of men who were skilled in the use of the axe and rifle.

Kane began his canvas in McKean and Cameron counties, selecting his lieutenants for the work of recruiting with admirable discrimination. He had headquarters at Smethport. The days of recruiting were full of incident and interest. The first man enlisted seems to have been Hiram Woodruff, and as others followed the different companies took shape. The men from Elk county formed themselves in the "Elk County Rifles." In Cameron county the company became known as the "Cameron County Rifles or Wild Cats", and from McKean County the "McKean County Rifles," and Clearfield county the "Raftsmen's Rangers."

The insignia by which the future regiment came to be known was adopted at Smethport. Opposite the court house where Kane had his headquarters was a butcher shop, and one day James Langregan noticed a deer's hide hanging outside across the street. He pulled out his penknife, cut off the tail and stuck it into his cap. Upon his return to headquarters Kane noticed his headgear, seized upon the idea suggested, and instantly announced that the force he was recruiting would be known as "Bucktails". Without waiting a minute all who were around headquarters rushed over to the butcher shop, knives were produced, the hide cut into strips resembling tails, and the strips mounted on the caps of the men.

This regiment was inducted into the national service on July 13, 1861, and participated in the following engagements

Dranesville
Camp Pierpont
Mechanicsville
Gaine's Mill
New Market Cross Roads
Malvern Hill
Harrison's Landing
Catlett's Station
Second battle of Bull Run
Groveton
South Mountain
Antietam

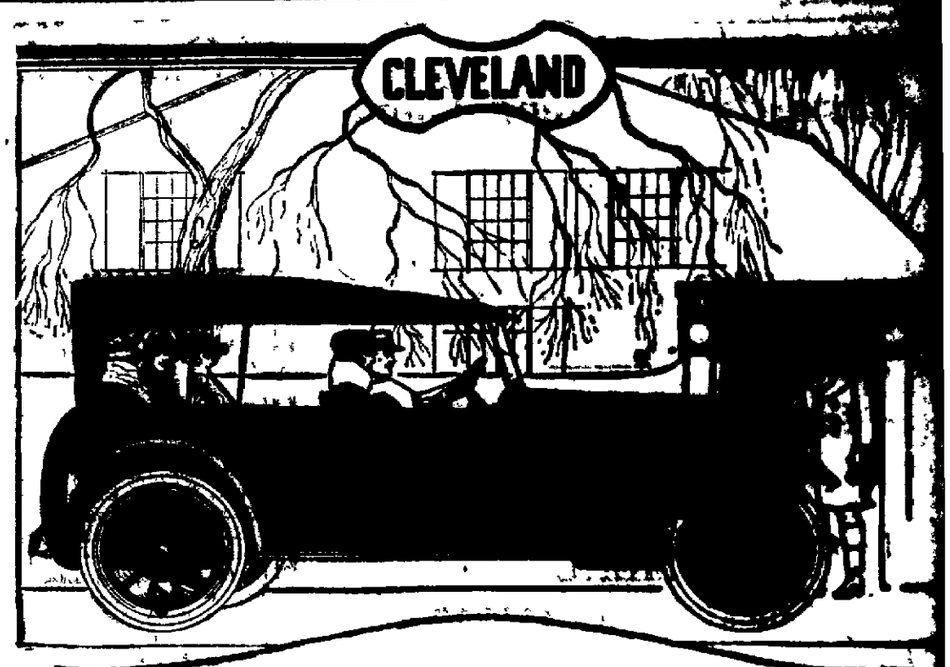
North Anna and Bethesda Church

In connection with the subjoined brief history of Co. K of the First Bucktails, it might not be out of place to recite an incident or two in the army life of the late Captain John H. Norris, whose death we recorded yesterday. These tales make up a part of the "unwritten history" of this famous company of Clearfield county's brave sons and were told from time to time by fellow soldiers—also actors in the stirring dramas of that day wherein these scenes were enacted.

Captain Norris, with a number of fellow "Bucktails," was captured at Mechanicsville and confined for a time in the notorious Libby prison. One day, the story goes, in company with the late General Hartshorne, Capt. J. E. Kratzer, of Curwensville and others was playing cards to while away the time. Young Norris, who stood more than six feet high and was a rugged, splendid specimem of physical manhood, suddenly announced that he was going home. He jumped up from the table, threw a handful of money to the other boys around the board and started down the line and toward the stockade gate. His companions thought he was joking and paid no further attention until hearing a commotion they looked out the window and saw Norris battling heroically with the guard. He was striking right and left and bowling the rebels over like ten pins. Escaping from the gate he found an ambulance drawn up ready to transport a wounded exchange prisoner to a union boat flying a flag of truce in the bay. His desperate ruse worked and the daring Clearfield county lad was protected by the soldiers accompanying the ambulance and succeeded in gaining the boat and soon was able to make his way back home to Curwensville.

During his time at Libby Messrs. Hartshorne, Kratzer and Norris in nosing about in the cellar of the place, which had been a cigar factory before the war, they ran across a keg beneath a pile of rubbish under the cellar starway. Having lots of time on their hands and being curious they unearthed the keg and Norris very promptly smashed in the head of same with a kick. The aroma which arose sort of promised "some kick" in the contents of the keg, but the soldier boys were afraid for a time to tackle the stuff. Finally it was decided that one man should make the test and it fell to Norris' lot to be that man He dipped out a canful and downed it while his fellow-discoverers sat there and watched the effect. After a few minutes the experimenter replied "Boys, she's alright," and at it they went. The stuff proved to be Jamaica rum which had been used in the cigar making process, and the Clearfield county contingent staged a real celebration for a few days or until the supply was exhausted.

At Gettysburg during the second day's fight the Bucktails were rushed into the fray on Little Roundtop at the crucial moment and with the other Pennsylvania Reserves are credited with saving the day. Just at the turning point in the battle, as the gunners began to spike the guns of Weed's Battery, which was stationed where Gen. Warren's statue stands, the Bucktails rushed up and it is said that Captain Norris is the man who ran among the guns and said "Don't spike your guns, boys; give them hell, we are the Pennsylvania Reserves." The Bucktails with their deadly breechloading rifles sent volley after volley of death into the advancing ranks of the rebels and soon had them reeling while the artillery redoubled their efforts and the tide changed. The Bucktails started down over the hill toward Plum Run confronted by the 15th Georgia of Lee's army. As they advanced Corporal Thompson, of Philadelphia, sought out Major Hartshorne, then in charge of the Regiment, and informed him that a whole regiment wanted to surrender. Thompson, Major Hartshorne, Norris and several others rushed to the place where the Georgians were being mowed down by the deadly fire of the Pennsylvania Reserves and the line officers of the Regiment simply threw swords and side arms at them in token of surrender, piling their arms full of weapons, history recording that almost the entire regiment was taken at this point.



Owners Praise It For Its Comfort

The delightful comfort with which five adult persons ride in the Cleveland Six touring car has appealed to buyers everywhere. The wide, soft-cushion seats, upholstered in genuine hand-buffed plaited leather, are cozy as cozy can be. And the low underslung spring construction, a feature of the Cleveland Six chassis, subdues the road-shock long before it can reach the cushions.

Many unusual qualities such as these are fast winning friends for the Cleveland Six. Among light weight sixes it stands out distinctly.

At all the principal automobile shows this season it has attracted extraordinary crowds. Men of mechanical interests and men experienced in the use of motor cars have both generous in their expression of approval and admiration for the quality design and construction of the Cleveland Six chassis. The several beautiful styles of body, mounted on this one chassis, have met with public favor men and women alike.

When you see or drive the Cleveland Six, you want it.

Drinking a Glass of Hot Water is a Splendid Habit

Cleanse and sweeten the system each morning and wash away poisonous, stagnant matter.

Those of us who are accustomed to feel dull and heavy when we arise; splitting headache, stuffy from a cold, foul tongue, nasty breath, acid stomach, lame back, can, instead, both look and feel as fresh as a daisy always by washing the poisons and toxins from the body with phosphated hot water each morning.

We should drink, before breakfast, a glass of hot water with a teasponful of limestone phosphate in it to flush from the stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels the previous day's indigestible waste, sour bile and poisonous toxins; thus cleansing, sweetening and purifying the entire alimentary tract before eating more food.

The action of limestone phosphate and hot water on an empty stomach is wonderfully invigorating. It cleans out all the sour fermentations, gases, waste and acidity and gives one a fine appetite for breakfast. A quarter pound of limestone phosphate costs very little at the drug store, but is enough to make anyone who is bothered with biliousness, constipation, stomach trouble or rheumatism an enthusiast on internal sanitation.

After Severe Sickness

Nothing Hastens Recovery Like Vinol

That is because Vinol contains the greatest strength creating and body building elements known to medicine—Beef and Cod Liver Peptones, Iron and Manganese, Hyphosphites, etc. You can just feel yourself gain after taking Vinol a week.

Here is Proof that Vinol Creates Strength

Warsaw, Ind.—"Influenza left me terribly weak, anaemic and with no appetite. I could not even walk around the house without being exhausted, and as I am a housewife I had to have help. I tried tonics and doctors without benefit. I read about Vinol, and four bottles built me up and restored my strength."—Mrs. Charles Moore.

Greenwood, Miss.—"La Grippe left me run-down and so weak I had to give up my work. At my drug store I learned about Vinol, and after taking it about one month I feel like a different woman. I eat well, sleep well and feel well, and I can truly say Vinol is a God-send to any weak, run-down person to create strength after sickness."—Mary Ella Ford.

For all run-down, nervous, debilitated conditions, weak women, overworked men, feeble old people and delicate children, there is no remedy like Vinol.

DON'TS FOR MOTOR DRIVERS ISSUED BY CHIEF SADLER

HARRISBURG, Feb. 24— (United Press)—"Facts Which Every Motorist Should Know," is the title of a booklet written by Highway Commissioner Lewis S. Sadler and to be circulated through the state by the department.

The booklet contains a long series of "don'ts" and other information valuable to the motorist. Features of the new automobile law of the 1919 legislature are also pointed out, among them the registration of machines, requirements of drivers, commercial vehicle regulations, speed, rules of the road, lights, time allowed for Pennsylvania registered automobiles by other states and used motor vehicle regulations.

Among the don'ts of importance and with which the motorist is most likely to be confronted are:

Don't forget to notify the highway department immediately upon the theft of an automobile and its recovery.

Do not sound horn, bell or signal device unnecessarily, but give reasonable warning of your approach to safeguard others.

Do not use chains or other devices projecting more than one inch on tires.

Do not remove, deface or alter the manufacturer's number or engine number on motor vehicles.

Do not take part in any race or speed contest.

Do not pass a street car which is taking on or discharging passengers.

Do not fail to turn to the right when meeting or overtaken by another vehicle, allowing the other free passage to the left.

Do not attempt to pass another vehicle at an intersection, sharp turn, curve or an approaching crest of a hill.

Do not fail to render assistance after injuring a person or property and upon request give your name and address.

Do not use muffler cut-out in any city, borough or incorporated town.

Do not fail to remove registration plates upon the sale of your car and notify the state highway department within 48 hours, giving the name and address of the purchaser.

Do not operate your motor vehicle as a common carrier or jitney without approval and certificate of the Public Service commission.

Do not purchase a used or second hand car without an affidavit of the vender and a statement in duplicate. You may be purchasing a stolen car.

Famous Hudson River.

The entire length of the Hudson river is 300 miles. From Troy to the mouth of the river in New York bay, a distance of 150 miles, the river is tidal, owing to the low grade of its bed, by which the ocean tide is able to back up. It is this lower tidal navigable portion of the Hudson that is of so much importance, and, of course, the water is salt. It is regarded as really an estuary of the sea. Above Albany and Troy the river is a small stream, and to its source the water is fresh.

Footprints of Progress.

A good substitute for cork is obtained from certain fungi, which are dried and ground, mixed with cement and consolidated by pressure. In Norway a process has been patented to enable carbide to be used for driving motors. In Denmark a company has been floated to make briquettes from heather. These have a higher heat value than peat. Experiments are being made to use chalk marl, especially that which comes from the Limburg mines, as a fertilizer.

Beyond His Control.

Robert had entertained his cousin for two or three days, but at the end of the third day, a discussion arose and a hand to hand fight ensued. His mother, hearing the commotion, quickly rushed to the scene and admonished, "It isn't nice to fight, Robert," she said, "especially your own relation and guest," but her son in the heat of passion, replied, "It don't make any difference whether he is my 'lation or not, my mad feels just the same."

Shoe Shine.

A most satisfactory way to dress shoes is to rub them with a section of an orange or a lemon and then to polish with a dry cloth. It gives a brilliant luster to shoes not badly worn and does not soil the clothing. It is often a convenience in freshening up shoes at the end of a journey, for fruit is easily obtained.

Fear to Tell Own Name.

Among the Knyans, a tribe of the Philippines, it is a breach of manners to ask a man what his name is. If a white man does so through ignorance the man will turn to a bystander and ask that the stranger, who does not know the customs, may be informed. If a man tells his own name the evil spirits will hear him and can more readily do him harm.

WHAT HAS EUROPE? ASK U. S. INVESTORS

American Producers Would Take Stock In Factories To Guarantee Credits

WASHINGTON, Feb. 24. (United Press.)— American manufacturers and producers of raw materials are finding out what European buyers have to offer as security before they send their materials abroad.

Inquiries are pouring into the Department of Commerce and Labor here asking for details of arrangements whereby American investors can assure themselves of payments for their goods either in the form of mortgages on the plants of the European maufacturer or dividends on stock.

Government officials here are of the opinion the United States investor might in that way assist the United States producer and shipper sell his raw material and to get quick payment for it. Europe must have our raw material, they point out. It cannot get it unless it pays for it and it cannot pay for it unless credits are extended. It is the plan to back these credits up by accepting securities of the plants themselves.

Generally speaking, big financial men are disinclined to risk heavily in Europe. Government officials, however, say investment of American dollars in Europe is natural and logical, if negotiable through private enterprises with safe and sane backing.

The governement departments to which inquiries are being directed, are inclined to caution Americans to invest in European industrial securities only after investigation both at home and abroad, as to the enterprises to be invested in and the good faith of the American agents, whether they be trading corporations or otherwise.

Would-be investor s in European concerns cite as proof of their hopes, the enormous profits now being made by English cotton mills, which are reported to be earning dividends ranging up to 300 per cent on capital stock. Boom time dividends also are being paid by European concerns holding large oil and rubber properties.

Queries for information as to the standing and dividends paid by industrial companies in France, England and Italy are flooding many government departments here.

Many American business men say the present situation is like that prevailing when the U. S. was building up its transcontinental railroads, opening its great mines and laying the foundations of great factories.

The great American fortunes of the coming generations are going to be made through foreign connections, many experts contend.

At the outbreak of the great war, approximately $4,000,000,000 worth of American securities were held by foreign investors. All but one quarter of these securities were sold here, according to the best estimates.

Within the next ten years, approximately $3,000,000,000 will be invested abroad by Americans, it is predicted.

Americans have it within their power to save and invest nearly this entire sum within one year, it was said here today. According to Comptroller of the Currency John S. Williams, Americans this year will have a surplus of approximately $10,000,000,000 above what they will need for food, clothes and education. Much of this must be invested in rebuilding American industry torn down by the war, it is conceded. But there will still be left a vast sum that may be invested abroad.

Europeans will have little left with which to rehabilitate their industries after paying burdensome taxes, according to the best observers. England will have a surplus of approximately $5,000,000,000 above necessities, or approximately one-half of the expected U. S. surplus, officials estimate. France can muster approximately $2,500,000,000, it is believed, and Italy perhaps a like sum. But from these surpluses, the British, Italians and French must deduct their taxes. The result, it is believed, will be a high increase in interest rates which will attract American dollars, it is predicted.

American dollars placed in foreign securities and utilities will help the U. S. retain the vast export trade built up during the war, officials say. Everything possible is being done to encourage conservative investment of this kind. Eugene Meyer, Jr., managing director of the War Finance Corporation, is on record as favoring the listing of foreign government and industrial securities on the New York stock exchange.

APPOINTMENT OF FORMER ROOSEVELT FOLLOWER A SURPRISE AT CAPITAL

HAS BEEN A WILSON SUPPORTER

WASHINGTON, Feb. 25—Bainbridge Colby, who is independent in politics with Democratic leanings, was appointed Secretary of State today by President Wilson to succeed Robert Lansing. The appointment came as a great surprise to Washington officials and politicians who had expected the President to name a strong Democrat to the post of ranking cabinet officer. Colby until a few years ago was regarded as a Progressive Republican. In 1916 he supported Roosevelt but switched over to Wilson when Roosevelt refused to run as a Progressive. He was appointed to the Shipping Board as an Independent. Although he refused to disclose his politics saying it was bad taste before the Senate confirmed his nomination his friends asserted that Colby is not a Democrat. Politicians say in the President's appointment of Colby there is an indication that the President believes party lines are being eradicated. In this connection they recalled his famous letter of congratulation to Calvin Coolridge, a Republican, when he was re-elected Governor of Massachusetts.

Will Fight Confirmation

A bitter fight will be waged in the Senate against confirmation of Colby as Secretary of State, several senators declared today upon hearing of his appointment. The opinion among Republican senators with the exception of a few Progressives was practically unanimous that Colby "won't do" but no member would permit his name to be used.

Though it is unusual for the Senate to oppose the President's selection of a cabinet member this appointment will be fought to a finish, senators declared today.

It was recalled by the Senate today that when he was nominated to the shipping board Colby's confirmation was vigorously opposed in the commerce committee and the Senate, his nomination going through by a narrow margin in both bodies.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 25—Brainbridge Colby has been appointed Secretary of State to succeed Robert Lansing, it was announced at the White House today.

Colby's appointment came as even more of a surprise than the resignation of Lansing at Wilson's request. While Colby has been a strong supporter of the Wilson Administration he is regarded as a Progressive Republican and was actively identified with the campaign of Theodore Roosevelt for the Republican presidential nomination in 1912. Later he was a candidate for governor and the Senate of New York on the Progressive ticket.

The first hint of Colby's appointment came a few minutes before the formal announcement by Secretary Tumulty. The early reports that he would get the place were not generally credited. Following the announcement of the appointment Colby appeared at the White House and was taken to see President Wilson. Colby's last connection with the Wilson Administration was when he was a member of the United States Shipping board. He resigned from that a few months ago. Colby is a lawyer. His home is in New York. He was born in 1869.

COUNCIL OF PREMIERS HAVE AND ARE DISCUSSING WILSON NOTE ON FIUME

LONDON, Feb. 25—President Wilson's reply to the Allied communication in response to the recent Adriatic note was delivered to the Council of Premiers immediately after noon today. The President's note, it was understood, deals exclusively with the Adriatic situation. The Council immediately began discussion of the note, it was learned.

SLAUGHTER OF ARMENIANS CONTINUES

PARIS, Feb. 25—More than 20,000 Armenians have been slaughtered by the Turks at Murash, Turkish Asia-Minor, a dispatch to the Armenian delegation declared. The dispatch declared the situation in Selisia, Turkish Asia-Minor was criticall Since the French troops have evacuated this district massacres have been continuing.

FINDS THEt PRESIDENT AS "COCKY AS HELL"

WASHINGTON, Feb. 25— Don't make any mistake about the President; we found him cocky as hell."

So one of the three railroad union chiefs who recently saw the President on the White House portico told his associates here from the outside districts to attend the wage conference.

"He sat there with a blanket around him; we didn't see his left hand. He had a golf cap perched on one side of his head. He sure looked cocky. Lee told him the profiteers were making all of the trouble. He told Lee he'd like to get a good chance at them. I'd like to put them in the front line trenches,' he said.

"The President is thinner than he was. He has lost a lot of weight and his face looks longer, but he seemed to be coming along all right. And I said we didn't see his left hand but I'll tell the world there was nothing the matter with his right. He's got a grip like a prize fighter.'"

MRS. EDITH B. DILL PASSES AWAY

Mrs. Edith Boynton Dill passed away last evening at 6 o'clock at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Alexander Ennis Patton, in St. Davids, a suburb of Philadelphia, aged 75 years.

Mrs. Dill suffered a paralytic stroke several weeks ago, while visiting her daughter and had since lingered in a critical condition. Her loved ones were at her bedside when the final summons came.

The remains will be brought to the Dill home in Clearfield on the 6:45 Pennsylvania train tomorrow evening, where the funeral, which will be private, will be held. Interment will be made at Curwensville Friday morning, following the arrival of the Pennsylvania passenger train.

Mrs. Dill was the daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Jonothan Boynton, and thus a member of one of Clearfield's oldest, best known and most highly respected families. She is survived by four daughters and a son, as follows: Mrs. Alexander Ennis Patton, of St. Davids and Curwensville; Mrs. Anna Rey, Mrs. F. B. Reed and Miss Alice H. and Henry G. Dill, of Clearfield.

In each case a rule shall issue on the licensee, returnable the first Monday of May, 1920, requiring him to show cause why the order now made should not be vacated.

If information shall be brought to the court that the licensee is not maintaining his tavern as a place of accomodation to the public as to meals and lodging, the license will be revoked.

In addition to the above orders, Judge Bell also handed down the following decree, which is especially applicable to those licenses not granted at this time:

In the Court of Quarter Sessions of Clearfield County, Penna.

In Re Liquor Licenses

Under the laws of Pennsylvania the sale, as a beverage, of any vinous, malt or brewed liquors or admixture thereof, containing any alcohol is a violation of law though alcohol be not an essential ingredient of the liquor and though it is not intoxicating. Com. vs. Wenzel, 24 Penna. Superior Court 467. The policy of the law of Pennsylvania has long been that sales of such liquors at retail shall be made only in connection with the furnishing of accommodation to the traveling public and such accommodation requires that the public be furnished, freely, upon fair terms, both meals and lodging. The recent Amendment to the Constitution of the United States and the federal legislation enacted thereunder is not as broad in scope as the state laws on the subject, and one of two conclusions is inevitable. If the state laws are superseded, then sales of such liquors, in so far as the time is not prohibited by Federal enactment, may be made by anybody, and also it follows that there is not in force any law of the State by which sales of liquor of improper character to prohibited persons or places may be punished under the State laws. To hold that there can be no prosecutions in the State for sales of liquor on Sunday, to minors and other sales which were prohibted by our legislation, might relieve the Court, but if all these matters are to be controled solely by federal action one result would be very far from that which is desirable. The other position is that the State laws, penal and otherwise, remain in force except so far as the prohibitions of the federal laws overlap, and this is the conclusion which was reached by the District Attorney and myself some time ago and which has been recently stated in an official opinion of the Attorney General of Pennsylvania. We are aware that there is a difference of view among the Courts that have so far spoken upon the question, but we see no reason for changing our previous opinion. The rule was long ago laid down by the United States Supreme Court, in Barbier vs. Connelly, 113 U. S. 27, that the police power of a State could be limited only to the extent of the Federal power under the Constitution, and applying this principle there seems to us to be no doubt that the State law remains in force. Prior to the Federal Amendment a license under the State law was a license to make such sales as were not prohibited by the State. At the present time such a license authorizes the holder to make such sales as are not prohibited by the State or by the United States, and this is the only difference that has been created.

With this view of the case we propose to grant all licenses subject to the prohibitions and restrictions imposed by the Constitutional Amendment, and as the extent of these restrictions have not yet been definitely settled by the Supreme Court of the United States, and for the further reason that no license will be permitted to be exercised unless the holder shall, if a retailer, furnish the accommodations to the public which is contemplated by the Act of Assembly, a rule to show cause why the order granting the license should not be revoked will issue to each licensee. Where the facts are not already known to the Court applicants must furnish evidence that the place asked for will continue to be operated as a hotel by the person applying for the license, and this must be done before the list is further disposed of.

By the Court,
SINGLETON BELL, P. J.

MICHIGAN RUM REVOLT COLLAPSES

IRON CITY, MICH., Feb. 25—Michigan's "rum revolt" collapsed today. In place of war between prohibition officials and county officials over alleged interference with prohibition enforcement laws a call has been issued for a conference between all concerned. Acting on advice from Washington, Major A. V. Dalrymple, Prohibition commissioner from the central states dropped his war-like preparations. Instead of arresting Attorney M. S. McDonough, Dalrymple requested that official to accompany him to Grand Rapids, Mich., for a conference with United States District Attorney Bryon H. Walker.

GASOLINE TO SOAR AGAIN

PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 25—Still higher prices for gasoline and other petroleum products were predicted here today by C. D. Chamberlain, general counsel for the National Petroleum Association, Chamberlain who has served as chairman of the convention of oil men from all sections of Pennsylvania placed the blame for the high prices of gasoline squarely upon the shoulders of the Pennsylvania and West Virginia oil producers.

Rail Unions Heads Framing Request To Send Wilson

Asking President To Veto The Esch-Cummins Bill And Set Up A Wage Tribunal

WILL CARRY FIGHTS TO COURTS

WASHINGTON, Feb. 25—A special committee of railroad union leaders went into extraordinary session today to frame a note to President Wilson containing a direct request that he veto the Cummins-Esch bill. Wilson is studying the bill. Union leaders say they will continue their fight against it even if it becomes a law. President Bert M. Jewell of the Railway department of the American Federation of Labor said there are several steps the railroad unions will take if the bill is signed by the President. One such measure would be to sue to test the constitutionality of the law. The union men want their wage controversy placed before a special tribunal to be appointed by President Wilson and representing only the roads and the employes. The court of arbitration set by up the Cummins-Esch bill gives them 1-3 representation at the court. Labor men said they believed that if the Cummins Esch bill is allowed to become a law they will be delivered completely into the hands of the roads.

LOANS MADE BY AMERICANS TO NATIONS OF EUROPE DURING WAR

Since the war loans were placed by American bankers various of the issues, have become due, and except as to Russia issues, all have been paid at maturity. The aggregate of the loans paid off as great. In this connection the following schedule prepared for the London Times by Thomas W. Lamont, of J. P. Morgan & Co., is interesting.

The amount of foreign government issues placed here, the amount that has been paid and the amount still held here are, subject to minor error, as follows:

MINISTER ERZBERGER TO BE SUSPENDED

BERLIN, Feb. 24 (Delayed)—President Ebert has asked that Mathias Erzberger minister of finance be suspended from his ministry until cleared of the charges that he falsified in personal tax returns, it was learned today. The President's decision, it was generally believed, will end Erzberger's connection with the ministry. The under secretary of state will assume Erzberger's position. Erzberger's trial will determine the truth or falsity of the charges made in a Hamburg newspaper. The newspaper declared that Erzberger had underestimated his personal wealth basing the tax on only a nominal income.

MEXICANS HOLDING ANOTHER AMERICAN FOR RANSOM

WASHINGTON, Feb. 25—Mexican bandits have captured Barry Hodarey, an American citizen, superintendent of the American Metals company in the state of Durango and are holding him for ransom, the State Department was advised today by the company.

"Bill Apperson's Boy"

Here is one of the most human, appealing dramas ever presented in the realm of the silent drama. Bill Appearson is a rough, uncouth Kentuckey mountaineer, but Tad, his boy is "somehow different." When Bill's wife dies, he marries again, and Tad, who has never become reconciled to his mother's death, drives his step-mother from the house—then something happens! "Bill Apperson's Boy" is a strong dramatic story, tinged with pathos, brightened with humor, beautifully interpreted and splendidly directed; it laws an irresistible grasp upon the sympathies. Truly a big picture in every way.

Time.

Now, for the truth of things, time makes no alteration; things are still the same as they are, let the time be past, present, or to come. Those things which we reverence for antiquity, what were they at their first birth? Were they false?—Time cannot make them true. Were they true?—Time cannot make them more true. The circumstance, therefore, of time, in respect of truth and error, is merely impertinent.—John Hales (1628).

P. O. S. OF A. FORMS CENTRAL PA. DIST. ASSOCIATION

In accordance with actiqon decided upon at the semi-annual convention of the P. O. S. of A., held in the Altoona temple on New Years' Day, a committee of delegates appointed at that time, last evening effected the organization of the Central Pennsylvania P. O. S. of A. district association.

This committee, composed of delegates from the eleven countie represented in the new formed association, performed the will of 12,775 of the membership of the counties of Blair, Cambria, Clearfield, Somerset, Bedford, Huntingdon, Center, Mifflin, Union, Snyder and Clinton. Through this unification of the different camps throughout these counties, it is anticipated that the future annals of the history of the P. O. S. of A. in this section will be one of great growth and development.

The officials of the Central Pennsylvania P. O. S. of A. district association elected last night are: First Past President, E. S. Ripka, of Center Hall; president, C. L. Nonemaker, past state president of the P. O. S. of A.; vice president, W. L. Holton, Morrisdale; secretary, Clarence Silknitter, Huntingdon; treasurer, M. R. Johnson, Bellefonte; assistant secretary, Charles Shore, Mapleton.

The first convention of the association is scheduled to convene in the Altoona temple, July 22, 1920. Delegates to the convention will be selected on the basis of one to each fifty members or fraction thereof, of the subordinate camps in these eleven counties. Thus, it can be seen, that several hundred delegates will be able to attend this convention, whose sessions are awaited with much interest by the P. O. S. of A. body. In connection with the convention, a program of events designed to be of general interest to the public will be worked out, the features of which will be announced at a later date.

The idea of the association is patterned after similar organizations in the east, and sections of Pennsylvania where the membership is much stronger. It is believed to be a step in the line of progress which will eventually react to the greatest possible good of the P. O. S. of A.

MUST RECORD PURCHASES OF SECOND HAND AUTOS

Under the act of 1919 all persons who purchase second hand automobiles are required to file an affidavit with the chief of police and another with the highway department. It is reported that many persons are failing to comply with the requirements of this act and are liable to fines ranging from $300 to $1,000. Residents of Clearfield will do well to bear the law in mind if they are contemplating the purchase of a second hand car. He cannot operate such a car until he has procured a license in his own name, the life of the original license expiring when the car passes from the ownership of the person who took out the original license.

Give Me a Friendly, Natural Hand-shake

an' a friendly natural tobacco. Keep yo' put-on airs an' "sauced-up" tobaccos for the fellow that likes nut sundaes better than home made pie—

So says a friend of ours named Velvet Joe. And he just about hits the nail on the head.

Velvet is made for men who think there's no smoke like real tobacco. If you are that sort of man, listen:

Velvet was born in old Kentucky, where more than one good thing comes from. It was raised as carefully as any other Kentucky thoroughbred. But the real secret of Velvet's friendly qualities is its slow natural ageing in wooden hogsheads. Ageing in the wood never hurt anything—and least of all, tobacco.

And so we say, Velvet is good tobacco—nothing more or less. It runs second to none.

Air Power.

An Italian inventor has produced a scheme by which vehicles of wheels and carriages and springs are to be propelled by air. According to the accounts, the scheme is to have huge tanks by the wayside holding vast quantities of compressed air. Locomotives and automobiles and tractors and motorcycles can run alongside and connect their tanks to the mother tank, get a lot of compressed air on board and run to the next stop.

Explains Sodom and Gomorrah.

Bricks cemented together with dried petroleum have curiously enough, been found in large quantities in Nineveh and Babylon. The oil-bearing and sulphur-impregnated shales of the valley of the Dead sea, which are now being developed, supplied the "brimstone and fire" which destroyed Sodom and Gomorrah.

Farmer's Hard Luck.

Earth in the upper peninsula is so kind that, tickle her with a hoe and she laughs with a harvest, but there are some drawbacks, it seems. A farmer down at Au Train put out cabbage one year, and grew perfectly marvelous heads weighing, every one of them, forty pounds or less, but gorgons the luck, next year the piece was just like cut-over land again, and it took the farmer all season to clean out the cabbage stumps.—Detroit News.

SHINY, DAZZLING ATTIRE TO GREET SPRING GIRL

BY MARGARET RHOE

(Written for The United Press)

In days of yore to be a shine
A sort of "cheap dub" meant
But these Spring days if she's ashine
Milady is content.

NEW YORK, Feb 23.—To be shiny at the seams seems to be the correct caper for Spring attire. In fact not only seams ashine will be seemly but your costume in toto from the top of your oilcloth hat to the toe of your patent leather pump must gleam with a high light polish.

Hats that are not of oilcloth have their straw surfaces brilliantly lacquered or are of glazed satin or of gras cloth with a luster finish. Glazed satin ribbons are used for trimmings. Indeed the chapeau that isn't glossy isn't flossy.

For suits and frocks glazed satins, shiny taffetas and other fabrics that have been treated with a peculiar lacquer process are the ones the designers have taken a shine to for their Spring time offerings. These glazed and lacquered materials are by no means stiff or cumbersome, but light and supple as they are lustrous and shimmery.

Many of the smartest little taffeta, serge and tricotine models show lavish trimming of oilcloth in the form of bandings, patch pockets, appliqued designs and buttons. Fascinating accessories of the shiny black oilcloth embroidered and stitched in gay hued yarns come in sets of hand bag, belt and hat to match for the maid addicted to sport attire.

Combinations of red and blue are very good this season and many is the serge dress that is resplendent with bands of bright red leather stitched at distinctive spots upon its surface where they will give the most chic effects. Red flannel is another smart fabric for the touch of scarlet trimming so much in demand and so that it may also have its full quota of shininess it is flecked and embroidered in golden threads. There is something almost martial in this dashing combination of blue and gold and red that subtley suggests the military uniforms of our very best little circus bands. Probably that is why this vivid red and gold embellishment is applied mostly as a banding, yes?

All sorts of glittering jewelry adds to the general shininess of milady's Spring getup. Bakers' dozens of bracelets which are glistening bands of brilliants adorn each arm, dangling earrings, a jeweled baulble bobbing on a gem incrusted chain and several stunning rings besides the inevitable pinky without which in some unusual and bizarre form no little finger would dare crook itself swankily above the chic teacup.

The dazzle of cut-steel buckels add blinding gleams from the high-polished expanse of short vamped colonial pumps of patent kid, finger nails shimmer with the extra high rosy polish of the last word in manicures, eyes rival star-shine, scarlet lips gleam with the sheen of the latest hectic rouge. Indeed extreme shininess is a feature of the model Spring maid save for one feature, and that's a shiny nose.

First Clockmaker Unknown.

It is uncertain when the first clock was constructed. Its invention is claimed by many nations. There is a tradition that the first clock was invented by the Chinese in the year 2000 B. C., and another that it was invented in Germany in the eleventh century. The first clock of which we have any description is the one which was set in the tower of the palace of Charles V of France in 1370 by a man named Henry DeVick.

Bit of Ancient History.

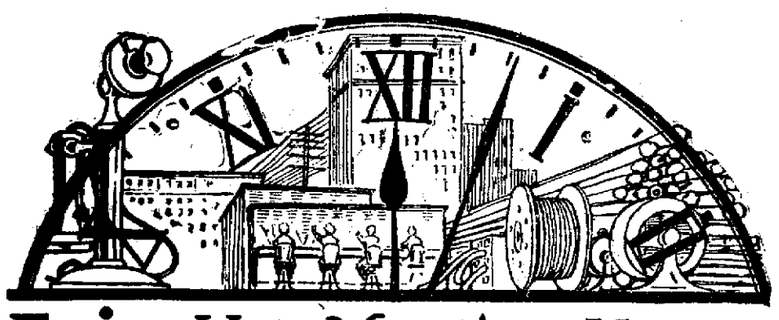
According to old Anglo-Saxon chronicles Edward the Confessor made a verbal will. On January 5, 1066, he recovered his power of speech and talked with those around him, among whom were the queen, the archbishop of York, archbishop of Canterbury and Harold and Tostig, his nephews. He prophesied the Norman invasion and then, stretching out his hand, bequeathed the crown to Harold. This act was ratified by the ancient British parliament and Harold was crowned the next day.—Exchange.

Common Superstitions.

Most people are superstitious. With some the breaking of a looking glass means a gloomy foreboding. Peacock feathers were formerly considered bearers of sickness. The Greeks and Romans of ancient times put implicit trust in omens and never undertook enterprises of any moment without consulting the oracle.

Many Accidental Drownings.

Accidental drowning caused 5,550 deaths, or 7.4 per 100,000, in this country last year. This rate is considerably less than that for any preceding year since 1910, and is also decidedly below the average for the decade 1901-1910.



Every Hour You Are Using-

A TELEPHONE plant that is subject to all the wear and tear of any complex structure.

A plant which in Pennsylvania requires 16,000 people to operate.

A plant which each year necessitates big-scale installations and replacements.

Labor and materials, then, are the principal operating costs. And what has happened to them since the war began?

Here are a few examples of how they have increased.

Wages	81%
Telephone buildings	110%
Switchboards and equipment	75%
Batteries	123%
Poles, crossarms, etc.	70%
Cables	60 to 65%

And today the rates are just what they were before the war.

Is this safe—is it sound—is it good business?

Adequate rates will save the service, and nothing else will. It is a serious situation, and it concerns every telephone user.

INTERCHURCH SURVEY IN PENNSYLVANIA IS NEARING COMPLETION

Churchmen and Laymen in Each County are Gathering Data

The rural survey being conducted in Western Pennsylvania by the Interchurch World Movement as part of the world survey of religious and social conditions is rapidly being completed and in some counties is almost finished.

The mass of information compiled as a result of this survey will give a knowledge of the American people, their homes, living conditions, industries, recreations and religious affairs that has never before been possible. No United States census and no previous church or social survey has ever gathered such varied information about so many people as the Interchurch Movement workers are now getting together.

County Survey Heads.

The rural survey work in the counties of Western Pennsylvania is being done under the leadership of ministers and laymen of various denominations. In Allegheny county it is being directed by Rev. Paul H. Rupp of McKeesport, Armstrong county by Rev. Daniel D. Earl of Plumville, Beaver county by Rev. D. E. McCoy of Murdocksville, Bedford county by Rev. David M. Kerr of Shellburg, Blair county by Rev. C. E. McCurdy of Altoona, R. D.; Butler county by Rev. J. I. Lauffer of Evans City, Cambria county by Rev. Edwin O. Marks of Johnstown, Cameron county by Rev. Harry Daniels of Sinnemahoning, Center county by Rev. R. R. Jones of Center Hall, Clearfield county by Rev. E. L. Ritzman of Munson, Clinton county by Rev. William E. Harr of Lock Haven, Crawford county by Rev. J. S. Cleveland of Conneaut Lake, Elk county by Rev. R. A. Reed of Ridgeway, Erie county by Rev. E. E. Lashley of Union City, Fayette county by Rev. I. G. Nace of Connellsville, Forest county by Rev. Frank P. Martin of Tionesta, Huntingdon county by Rev. W. W. Willard of Warrior's Mark, Jefferson county by Rev. J. M. Weber of Punxsutawney, Lawrence county by Rev. H. W. Fung of Ellwood City, McKean county by Rev. E. J. Fairweather of Eldred, Mercer county by Mr. C. E. Brockway of Sharon, Potter county by Rev. T. Vassar Caulkins of Coudersport, Somerset county by Rev. G. E. Buhan of Rockwood, Venango county by Rev. P. T. Griffiths of Franklin, Warren county by Rev. S. C. Anderson of Warren, Washington county by Rev. H. A. W. Riddle of Alexander and Rev. Paul Miller of Canonsburg, Westmoreland county by Rev. Robert C. Betts of Latrobe.

County Used As Unit.

The county is being used as the unit of study in the home survey. Survey workers in the rural districts make first a map of the county. On this is indicated the location of every church and school, every farm house and social center, every railroad and garage and garage club.

The range of influence of each church is indicated so that it is possible to see at once where the work of two or more churches overlap and where homes or parts of communities are not being reached by any church.

The completed survey will reveal to each county the actual facts concerning religious conditions within its boundaries and with this as a basis it is expected that the county churchmen themselves will plan for interdenominational work in taking care of their particular problems.

Out of the local plans, state and national program will be formulated determining the responsibility of the whole church toward the various causes of the world unrest and in the pressing social and industrial problems.

PROTESTANTISM IN AFRICA

Africa is awakening to the realization of its commercial value. Western nations are linking its peoples and vast resources with their civilization. The orient is likewise at work. Islam is especially active and offers a debasing religion, with a measure of civilizing power, to credulous peoples. The interchurch world survey shows that Africa has one Protestant minister or missionary to every 73,782 population. Christianity, the only religion which really civilizes, is doing far too little to fulfill its mission. If it delays much longer, Islam and materialism will divide Africa between them.

THE MEASURE OF CIVILZATION

The impact of western civilization which in the extreme north of Africa is changing the status of woman, has a very direct bearing on education. In the Moslem system her place has been well described by an Oriental writer, as that of "a frog at the bottom of a deep well." A young Egyptian Bey, who recently overheard an old Mohammedan sheikh say that girls should not stay long at school, immediately flashed out: "That day is past. Our country can never be great until our women are properly taught." Here again is one of the Christian church's great opportunities.

ASQUITH GETS SEAT IN COMMONS

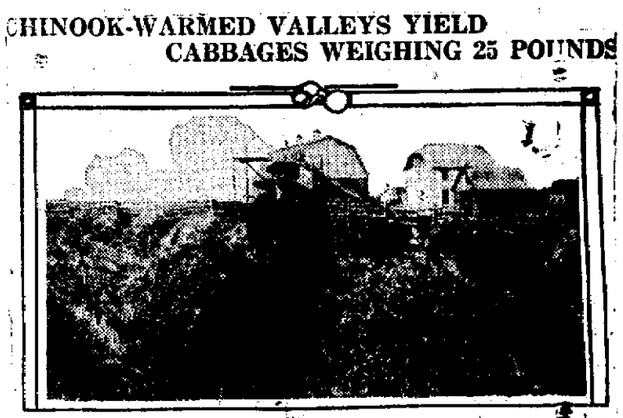
LONDON, Feb. 25—Herbert Asquith, former premier, has been elected to the House of Commons from the Paisley district, it was officially announced today. The election was held February 12, but according to the British custom the result was not announced until today. The election was followed with great interest throughout Great Britain.

Politicians see in the candidacy of the former premier "an attempt to come back to regain his powerful position in British affairs."

TO GET EARLY REPORT ON RUSSIA

LONDON, Feb. 25—The Council of Premiers will lose no time in obtaining its report on conditions in Russia it was indicated today. The Council has requested Albert Thomas, Director of the International Labor Bureau, of the League of Nations to report on the Russian situation by March 22. The report, it was said, will be forwarded through the League.

CHINOOK-WARMED VALLEYS YIELD CABBAGES WEIGHING 25 POUNDS



Oats in Nechako Valley

Garden Variety Size in British Columbia

VANCOUVER, B. C.—Cabbages weighing twenty-five pounds each, that a six-year-old child can hide behind, wheat over a man's head and forty-five bushels to the acre, oats up to a horse's shoulders—these are some of the products of the rich farming lands warmed by chinook winds in British Columbia.

Settlers in British Columbia have a variety of land to choose from. Of the 250,000,000 acres in the province, 92,000,000 are forest lands, and of this area 33,000,000 acres carry merchantable timber. Once cleared, much of this land is as rich agriculturally as any in Canada. The clearing of the land is a source of great profit and numerous saw-mills furnish a convenient market. The timber industry of the province is being rapidly developed. Devastated Europe is clamoring for all the timber America can supply and the Panama canal opens to British Columbia a direct sea route for an immense lumber trade.

There are, also, many valleys and rolling lands along the rivers and watercourses whose soil is declared by experts, to be as rich as any on the continent. Two districts already have been surveyed by the government and laid out for settlement. One comprises 35,000 acres in the Nechako valley around Vanderhoof, and the other, 15,000 acres in Bulkeley valley. While the lands are rated as good for grain as those of the prairie provinces of Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta, British Columbia farmers have gone in for mixed farming and find it pays better in the long run than to stake all their year's prospects on a single crop of wheat.

Y. M. C. A. NOTES

A large crowd of men and boys were pleased with the talk last night on "A Soldier's Life Aboard a U. S. Army Transport."

The school girls will have the use of the gymnasium every Tuesday from 4 to 5, and Saturday from 3 to 4 o'clock, for class work and games.

Several free scholarships have been granted to our Clearfield boys. Their names and courses will be announced later.

On Saturday, February 28th, the "Y." girls will travel to Tyrone to play the "Y" girls' team of that city.

On Friday evening, March 5th, the DuBois girls will play at Clearfield on the Y. M. C. A. gym floor.

Several men are using our bath, shower and electric sweat bath. We have an experienced massager.

An Early Start.

The first conveyance for the public between New York and Philadelphia was a stage, started in 1756 by the aged huntsman, Butler.

The punishment of one reckless truck driver should serve as a warning to many others who are daily offending in this respect. It should not be necessary to go into detail and mention any more names or specific instances. In the first place it should not have been necessary for any newspaer or private citizen to bring to the bar of justice those who offend in this manner. We have officers who are just as bound to regulate traffic as they are to perform the duties of preserving the peace. Since the advent of prohibition our police force have not been called upon to curb the ravages of drink crazed men. Would it not be well for our police officers to apply themselves to the enforcement of all our borough laws? Almost daily motorists can be seen disregarding the turn to the right rule at the flag pole on the diamond. What is wrong? Is the traffic law to be winked at or obeyed by one and all every day in the year?

OH, FOR THE WISDOM OF SOLOMON

We do not have the "legal mind," that mental attribute which enables a lawyer to interpret the mysteries of court rules and orders and the procedure and recedents of jurisprudence and we timidly venture to assert that the average hotel man is in much the same predicament that we find ourselves. Perhaps we understand aright, perhaps wrong, but as we figure it out, the Clearfield County License Court opines that the Brooks License Law is still in effect and under it the Court can grant licenses providing the licensee agrees to abide by all its requirements. The Brooks License law has not been repealed or annuled and the hotel man who craves the right to sell liquor has his old time rights under it. However, the hotelman is in about the same sad plight as little "Orphant Annie" who is told by an indulgent Aunt Pennsy to go ahead and taste the jam in the cupboard while stern old Uncle Samuel warns that he will spank if she does. And we believe he will at that.

VARIOUS KINDS OF ADVERTISING

There are many kinds of advertising but not all of them pay. Merchants think they can draw trade by defacing country roads and city vacant lots with tehir billboards. They distribute circulars wholesale, meanwhile more or less neglecting the opportunity the newspaper gives.

Newspaper advertising is read because people have paid good money for the newspaper, and they feel interested to get all it contains. They sit down to read it with the preconception that it is going to have interesting things in it, and among the most attractive of these things is always the advertising.

Other kinds of advertising do not start with this preconception. A man has paid nothing for a circular and didn't ask for it or want it. Consequently he throws it away. Circular advertising, of course, has its uses and is sometimes desirable for supplementary use, but as compared with newspaper publicity it is far less efficient. Similarly people dislike staring billboards and one's impression on seeing them is a feeling of dislike. Nobody is convinced by forcing advertising on them. People are interested by seeing advertising in a thing they have bought and paid for.

KEEP LOOKING YOUNG

It's Easy—If You Know Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets

The secret of keeping young is to feel young—to do this you must watch your liver and bowels—there's no need of having a sallow complexion—dark rings under your eyes—pimples—a bilious look in your face—dull eyes with no sparkle. Your doctor will tell you ninety per cent of all sickness comes from inactive bowels and liver.

Dr. Edwards, a well-known physician in Ohio, perfected a vegetable compound mixed with olive oil to act on the liver and bowels, which he gave to his patients for years.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets, the substitute for calomel, are gentle in their action yet always effective. They bring about that natural buoyancy which all should enjoy by toning up the liver and clearing the system of impurities.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets are known by their olive color. 10c and 25c.

Co. 'K.' of The Bucktails

A Short History And Some Incidents in The Soldier Life of Captain John H. Norris

During the past year The Progress has promised its readers a history of Co. K, the Clearfield county organization with Col Kane's famous First Bucktails. The death of Captain John H. Norris has reminded us of this promise, and we submit a complete roster of Company K enlisted at Curwensville, which was formerly known as the "First Bucktails". This company was attached to the regiment which was already known as the "First Rifles, Pennsylvania Reserves Bucktails." When it first entered upon active service it was occasionally referred to as the "Kane Rifles" but in a short time "Bucktails" became the almost universal designation of the regiment, and the one by which it was known throughout the two armies. The individual name of this particular company, however, as adopted by its officers was the "Raftmen's Rangers."

The Raftsmens Rangers were recruited in Curwensville, Clearfield county, headquarters being established at an hotel known as "Good Intent and People's Line." The men were for the most part lumbermen drawn from the mountainous districts skilled in the use of the axe and the rifle. On April 18th, Edward A. Irvin, who upon the firing upon Fort Sumter and the issuance of President Lincoln's call for troops had returned to Curwensville from a business trip, opened, with the assistance of W. Ross Hartshorne, James W. Welch and John P. Bard, a recruiting station, where names were secured rapidly, among the first of which were those of David C. Dale, John H. Norris and Lewis Hoover. Securing the assistance of Daniel G. Blett, a former commander of a company in Lewistown, Pa., drilling was commenced and continued assiduously. On May 9th elections for officers were held, and on the following morning at 4 A. M. the company marched to the nearest railroad station, at that time Tyrone, thirty-six miles away. Despite the early hour of the company's departure, the people of the neighborhood assembled and a considerable demonstration was made. Before starting, the company was presented with a silk flag by Mrs. Jane P. Irvin. This flag afterwards served as the regimental colors from Second Bull Run to Fredericksburg, and is now in the possession of Hugh M. Irvin son of the late Colonel E. A. Irvin, at Curwensville.

On the arrival of the men at Tyrone, it was discovered that transportation would be furnished for only 100 men. As the company contained 123, it was necessary to send back 23. In deciding upon those to be left behind, the married men were selected first, and thus it came about that there were in the company, when it boarded the cars, only single men.

The election for company officers resulted as follows:

Captain, Edward A. Irvin
First Lieutenant, W. Ross Hartshorne
Second Lieutenant, James Welch

The Progress is not prepared at this time to furnish a roster or history of Company B of the 149th Pennsylvania Volunteers but within a very short time a description of the activities of this splendid organization will appear in our columns. We furnish, however, a roster of Company K of the old "Bucktails" or "Raftsmen's Rangers," which is printed below.

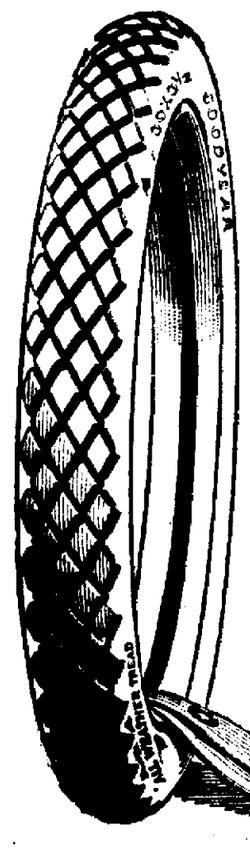
Building 30x3, 30x3½ and 31x4-inch Tires



Owners of small cars can enjoy the same high relative value in Goodyear Tires that gives utmost satisfaction to owners of big, costly motor carriages.

They can take advantage of that tremendous amount of equipment, skill and care employed by Goodyear to build tires of extraordinary worth in the 30x3-, 30x3½-, and 31x4-inch sizes.

They can secure these tires without waiting, despite the enormous demand, because, in addition to its larger sizes, Goodyear builds an average of 20,000 a day in the world's largest tire factory devoted to the three sizes mentioned.

If you own a Ford, Chevrolet, Dort, Maxwell, or any other car using one of these sizes, go to the nearest Goodyear Service Station Dealer for Goodyear Tires and Goodyear Heavy Tourist Tubes.

An Important Letter

EVERETT, PA.—"The length of time that we used Dr. Pierce's medicines I believe will testify to the fact that they have given entire satisfaction. I think I am safe in saying that we have used Dr Pierce's Pleasant Pellets for 35 years and have found them superior to all other medicines as a stomach remedy. We always found them mild in their operation but very effective. I have also used Doctor Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery (an herbal tonic and blood builder) off and on for 25 years. That I am living today, I attribute to the use of the 'Golden Medical Discovery.' My daughters as well as my sons have also made liberal use of it with great benefit to themselves.

"My daughters (I have six) and myself have all used Doctor Pierce's Favorite Prescription as a woman's tonic and have realized the greatest benefit from it. GLASS OF SAKTS CLEANS KIDNEYS

When your kidneys hurt and your back feel sore, don't get scared and proceed to load your stomach with a lot of drugs that excite the kidneys and irritate the entire urinary tract. Keep your kidneys clean like you keep your bowels clean, by flushing them with a mild, harmless salts which removes the body's urinous waste and stimulates them to their normal activity. The function of the kidneys is to filter the blood. In 24 hours they strain from it 500 grains of acid and waste, so we can readily understand the vital importance of keeping the kidneys active.

Drink lots of water—you can't drink too much; also get from any pharmacist about four ounces of Jad Salts; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast each morning for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to clean and stimulate clogged kidneys; also to neutralize the acids in urine so it no longer is a source of irritation, thus ending bladder weakness.

Jad Salts is inexpensive; cannot injure; makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink which everyone should take now and then to keep kidneys clean and active. Try this, also keep up the water drinking, and no doubt you will wonder what became of your kidney trouble and backache.

The A. H. Woodward Bible Class of Trinity Methodist Sunday school will hold a business and social meeting at the home of Mrs. Andrus C. Williams, 407 Cherry street on Tuesday evening, February 24th. A full attendance is requested.

ARTICLE 4
Powers of Officers

The president shall, within ten days after his election, appoint a Standing Comittee of five members of the association, the president to be a member ex officio of this committee, whose duty it shall be to censor or pass upon each and every athletic or sporting activity of the association and who, as individuals, as designated by the president, shall be chairman of the following branches of sports and activities:

BASKETBALL AND FOOTBALL.
BASEBALL.
BOXING AND WRESTLING.
RACING AND TRACK.
AQUATIC SPORTS.

The president shall also have power to appoint special committees for the handling of affairs not coming under these general heads. All appointments subject to the approval of the directors. The president shall have power to remove any member or members of the Standing Committee.

Upon petition of fifty-one percent. of the membership of record, the president shall remove any member or members of the Standing Committee, and when a committeeman is so removed, the president shall, within ten days, name his successor. The president shall have power to call regular and special meetings, by giving four days' notice in a daily publication of Clearfield.

ARTICLE 5
Bonding of Officers

The secretary and the treasurer of this association shall each be bonded in the sum of One Thousand Dollars and shall make application for said bond before handling any monies, the premiums to be paid by the association.

ARTICLE 6
Finances

All membership fees, dues, assessments or monies due the association shall be received by the secretary, who shall remit to the treasurer at least monthly and take his receipt therefor.

All monies disbursed shall be by the treasurer upon the signed order of the president and the secretary.

ARTICLE 7
Membership

The membership of this association shall be unlimited. Fees for membership shall be Five Dollars, payable in advance. Petitioners for membership shall be required to sign an agreement to abide by the constitution and by-laws.

ARTICLE 8
Amendments

These by-laws may be amended or altered at any annual meeting, such proposed amendments or changes to be submitted to the members with the notice of the annual meeting.

Removes Impurities.

For home use an electrical device to ozonize water and remove all impurities, which can be operated from a light socket, has been invented.

Next War To Be Perfection of Scientific Butchery

Experts Say Science And Arts Insure More Wanton Waste And Destruction Than Before

Since the world was startled over the unheard of inventions for destruction in the World War, including wireless telegraphy, aviation, depth bombs and submarines, long range rifles and the like, people have been asking "What will become of the world in the next war?"

Henry Wood, United Press Staff Correspondent at Paris has asked French scientific and military leaders to discuss possibilities of destruction in the next world conflagration, which they declare is not beyond the realm of probability. Herewith is given the first of six stories consisting of statements from those in France most fitted to talk on the subject.

Three of them are members of the world famous French Academy of Sciences and as a consequence, most qualified to speak from the respective standpoints of wireless telegraphy, chemistry and self-propelling projectiles, while the others are the highest possible experts in aviation, naval and land warfare.

These men, each of whom contributes his of the next great war, are Monsieur Edouard Branly, French inventor and developer of wireless telegraphy; Monsieur Paul Painleve, former war minister and recognized French scientist; Monsieur Moureu, chemist professor of the College of France and founder of the French confederation of scientific work; Monsieur Bechereau, aviation engineer and expert; General Debeney, now Director of the School of War and one of the most successful French generals in the final smashup of the German army on the western front, and finally Commandant X., one of the highest authorities of the French navy, but whose name naval etiquette does not permit to be used.

Here is the first:

By EDOUARD BRANLY
(French inventor)

"It is certain that every time someone discovers something new, the first idea is to apply it to war, and immediately people get busy to make machines improving the science that helps killing.

"As soon as avilation existed, it was used to increase the horrors of war. The progress of chemistry has been employed to make the worst asphyxiating gas.

"The progress of aviation especially is formidable and disquieting. Since an airplane can carry through the air several tons of bombs, and running at great speed, I am inclined to think that it may be an urgent question to take up, in peace time, of digging underneath the ground of cities, deep underground abris, for, should war break out, there would be no more safety for anybody on any point of land.

"Thus, the first idea of those who think of the possibility of a new war should be to build underground cities.

"We see airplanes able to carry 20, 30, 40 people and several tons of baggage. There will be machines soon which will carry a hundred persons. We see airplanes flying at a speed of 300 kilometres an hour. It means that within a few hours, giant airplanes leaving Berlin could come and drop on Paris, tons of bombs. If we were disarmed and we would let the Germans rebuild their aerial war material, under the pretext of making commercial airplanes, nothing would prevent them from putting us within two days in a frightful condition. Without even waiting an official declaration of war, hundreds of giant airplanes would come and set Paris afire. And the future war, if it happenedfi would be immensely more murderous than the one preceding because much more scientific.

"It is theoritically possible to produce destructive effects at a distance by wireless, but there are some difficulties. Suppose, for example, that they intend at Berlin to put Paris afire at a distance, by wireless. The necessary condition would be that there existed in Paris apparatus previously installed to receive the order. Whatever is the thing that is to be done between one place distant from another, there must be receptive apparatus minutiously prepared to execute it.

"During the war, we thought of blowing up German dumps by wireless. It could have been done, but owing to the lack of receptors fixed by ourselves inside the dumps there was no possibility of doing it. These receptors should have been placed in advance in caves dug underneath what we wanted to blow up.

"At sea, it is possible to throw in the middle of a fleet, some kind of ship built to be directed from a distant point to cause the explosion thru wireless, of a bomb, or several bombs. Such a ship might cause serious damage. But, in the present state of wireless, we must say that these orders, to be carried out, cannot be instantaneous. This means other difficulties to solve, which are not insurmountable.

"There could also be submarines, airplanes, purposely sacrificed, carrying no passengers, and which managed by wireless would cause similar explosions.

"Anyhow, from the fact only that the progress of aviation and chemistry grows so rapidly, the future war would be a most destructive one, not exclusively for the combatants but the unoffending civil populations as well."

EXIT THE COUNTRY DOCTOR

From all parts of the country, we are getting news that there are hundreds, yes thousands, of the smaller communities which are without doctors. There are two reasons for this situation—first reason, the great war, second, the automobile.

Thousands of physicians who served in the army, many of whom came from country localities, when they came back to civil life, sought something better than what they had before the war. They have settled in cities, and the exodus from civil life into the army, and from the army back into civil life, with all the readjustments this implies, has given good openings to many.

The big factor, however, is the automobile, linked up as it is with the good-roads movement. It now takes no longer for a doctor living in the city to run out fifteen or twenty miles into the country to visit patients than it did for the same doctor, ten years ago, to hitch up the old nag and drive out two or three miles. With the multiplication of hard roads, the automobile can be used the year around. As a consequence, the area readily accesible to the larger towns has grown larger and larger, and the competition of the man who remained in the country village more and more difficult; so, thousands of doctors have asked themselves this question—"Why shouldn't I get into the swim with the other fellow? Just because Smith lives in the city is no sign he knows more about the practise of medicine than I do; as a matter of fact, I know durn well that he doesn't know as much. I will go into town and show them a thing or two. I can hold all my business here, and he will have to hump himself some if he can beat me out, even on Main Street."

So, there you are!

But, here is a counter suggestion. There are a good many city doctors, especially those getting along in years, who feel a, though they would like to slow down a little, and who have always sighed for the pleasures of country life. To such men the Garden of Eden is a cottage in the country. Why shouldn't such men move into some of these beautiful country villages, which nowadays have most of the comforts of city life and many advantages which the city does not possess? In such a place a home can be bought for a song, with peace and quiet, a garden spot, fresh fruit and beautiful scenery, and an increasing number of people of large ideas, poetic and literary instincts—and little money!

If any city doctor who reads these lines would like to make a trade with a country doctor who is anxious to get into town, we beg to offer our services to help in making the exchange.

Step right up, doctor!

OBITUARY

JAMES H. DALE DEAD

James Henry Dale son of John and Martha Dale, pioneer settlers of Clearfield county, was born near Curwensville, December 27 1835, and died at his home in DuBois, February 24, 1920.

He is survived by his wife and the following children: Albert J. Dale, John W. Dale and Mrs. Annie Toote, of DuBois; Mrs. Minnie Toote, of Clearfield; Mrs. Myrta Goodfellow, of Indiana and Harry B Dale, of Harrisburg.

Mr. Dale was for many years engaged in the lumbering business and was one of the best known millwrights in this part of the state.

In his business life he was trusted and respected by all with whom he had dealings and at all times exercised a far reaching influence for good over the men who were employed by him.

After retiring from active life he located in DuBois and for a number of years has been employed as janitor of the Sandy High School building, in this capacity as in every other position giving honest service and honored by the teachers and pupils alike.

For seventy years he was a devoted member of the Methodist church and at the time of his death was a member of the Mt. Zion M. E chruch.

Funeral services will be conducted by his pastor at his late home on Denton avenue on Wednesday evening at 7:30 and on Friday his pastor will conduct services at the home of his daughter, Mrs. John E. Toote, in Clearfield, where the interment will take place.

JAMES H. FARRELL

James Henry Farrell, who died at his home on Sixth street at 12:30 on Sunday, February 22nd. 1920, after an illness of eight months duration, was in his 43rd year. He had been a respected resident of Clearfield for the past twenty years and for nearly all of that time was a valued employee of the New York Central Railroad Company. About one year ago he was elected secretary of the Board of Health, and Truant Officer of Clearfield, and served very acceptably in these positions until failing health forced him to give up active work some two or three months ago.

He was an active member of the Eleventh Street Methodist church and enjoyed the respect and esteem of a wide circle of friends. His funeral took place this afternoon at 2 o'clock from his late home, services being conducted by his pastor, Rev. John C. Collins.

He leaves to mourn the loss of a loving and devoted husband and father, his widow, two daughters and two sons. He is also survived by his mother, three brothers and four sisters, viz: M. L., T. F. and W. J. Farrell. Mrs. William Fister, Mrs. Edward Roessner, Mrs. Paul McDermott and Mrs. Hartswick Logan, all of Clearfield.

Gray, faded hair turned beautifully dark and lustrous almost over night, is a reality, if you'll take the trouble to mix sage tea and sulphur, but what is the use, you get a large bottle of the ready-to-use tonic, called "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound" at drug stores here. Millions of bottles of "Wyeth's" are sold annually, says a well-known druggist, because it darkens the hair so naturally and evenly that no one can tell it has happened.

You just dampen a sponge or soft brush with it Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur and draw it through your hair, taking one small strand at a time. Those whose hair is turning gray, becoming faded, dry, scraggly and thin have a surprise awaiting them, because after just one application the gray hair vanishes and your locks become luxuriantly dark and beautiful.

This is the age of youth, gray-haired, unattractive folks aren't wanted around, so get busy with the Sage and Sulphur tonight and you'll be amazed at your youthful appearance and the real beauty and healthy condition of your hair within a few days. Inquiry at drug stores here shows that they all sell lots of "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur" and the folks using it are enthusiastic. This preparation is a delightful toilet requisite. It is not intended for the cure, mitigation or prevention of disease.

Mr. Woods Land Owner

Have you calculated the value of your woods land from a study of the growth of the various species of trees now growing on it? Do you know that the scarcity and price of lumber products has revolutionized former estimates of values?

Do you know that had your timber been of marketable size and had not grown any in the past twenty years, that as an investment it would have paid you 9 per cent. interest to have held it until the present time, due to advance in price?

Do you know that during those twenty years, had your timber been 12 inches in diameter, it would now be 20 inches in diameter, or would have increased in volume 170 per cent. and would have paid you interest at the rate of 8 1-2 per cent. due to growth.

Do you know that with a spacing 20 feet apart each way one acre will produce 110 trees and that trees 20 inches in diameter will yield an average of 250 feet board measure, or 27,500 feet per acre, besides other products, such as bark, mine timber, paper wood, extract wood, chemical wood, etc.? Do you know that the sprouts and seedling of today will make mine timber, railroad ties, poles, piling, etc., within thirty-five years and in ten years more will make saw timber?

Do you know that of the sprouts, seedlings and immature trees that are destroyed by blight, insects, storm, fungi, sleet, lightning, fire, etc. that 90 per cent. is destroyed by forest fires. Do you know that users of forest products in Pennsylvania in 1919 paid $30,000,000.00 for freight on forest products shipped into the states, and that the freight on products manufactured and used within the state will exceed that amount.

Do you know that the late spring forest fires destroy five birds per acre, one rabbit for each two acres, one pheasant for each four acres, together with other game in lesser proportions, besides destroying berries, nuts, shelter and water supply for all kinds of game, fish and wild life.

The Central Pennsylvania Forest Fire Protective Association was organized in 1913 for the purpose of protecting, cultivating and utilizing the forests and has done a lot of good work in the vicinity of Snow Shoe, Pa, more information of which may be had from W. C. Snyder of the Lehigh Valley Coal Co. of that place. The state government will contribute an equal amount to that expended by the association for extinguishing or preventing forest fires, as is provided in an act of June 4th, 1915, and will co-operate in many other ways. With the advantage of local management this offers a very good means of protecting the forests. Membership in the association will cost as follows:

Life membership	$25.00
Contributory membership	$5.00
Annual membership	$1.00

Landowners wishing to become a member, with less than 200 acres of land will be taken in under the annual membership class. Landowners having more than 200 acres will be charged not more than one cent per acre in addition to the annual membership charge.

Membership in this association will give you better fire protection, knowledge of how to obtain trees for planting, how to plant, what to plant, care for, manufacture and market your forest products, estimates of the value of mature and immature trees, more game, fish and wild life, better and more water, increased land values and an opportunity to contribute to the present and future welfare of your community.

In order to get this work started in the different communities before the spring fire season it will be necessary to have immediate action from those interested.

The organization of the First Bucktail regiment was due entirely to the efforts of Thomas Leiper Kane, a resident of McKean county, who had been active in abolition circles since boyhood, and became vested in the authority of Governor Curtin to organize a regiment composed of men who were skilled in the use of the axe and rifle.

Kane began his canvas in McKean and Cameron counties, selecting his lieutenants for the work of recruiting with admirable discrimination. He had headquarters at Smethport. The days of recruiting were full of incident and interest. The first man enlisted seems to have been Hiram Woodruff, and as others followed the different companies took shape. The men from Elk county formed themselves in the "Elk County Rifles." In Cameron county the company became known as the "Cameron County Rifles or Wild Cats", and from McKean County the "McKean County Rifles," and Clearfield county the "Raftsmen's Rangers."

The insignia by which the future regiment came to be known was adopted at Smethport. Opposite the court house where Kane had his headquarters was a butcher shop, and one day James Langregan noticed a deer's hide hanging outside across the street. He pulled out his penknife, cut off the tail and stuck it into his cap. Upon his return to headquarters Kane noticed his headgear, seized upon the idea suggested, and instantly announced that the force he was recruiting would be known as "Bucktails". Without waiting a minute all who were around headquarters rushed over to the butcher shop, knives were produced, the hide cut into strips resembling tails, and the strips mounted on the caps of the men.

This regiment was inducted into the national service on July 13, 1861, and participated in the following engagements

Dranesville
Camp Pierpont
Mechanicsville
Gaine's Mill
New Market Cross Roads
Malvern Hill
Harrison's Landing

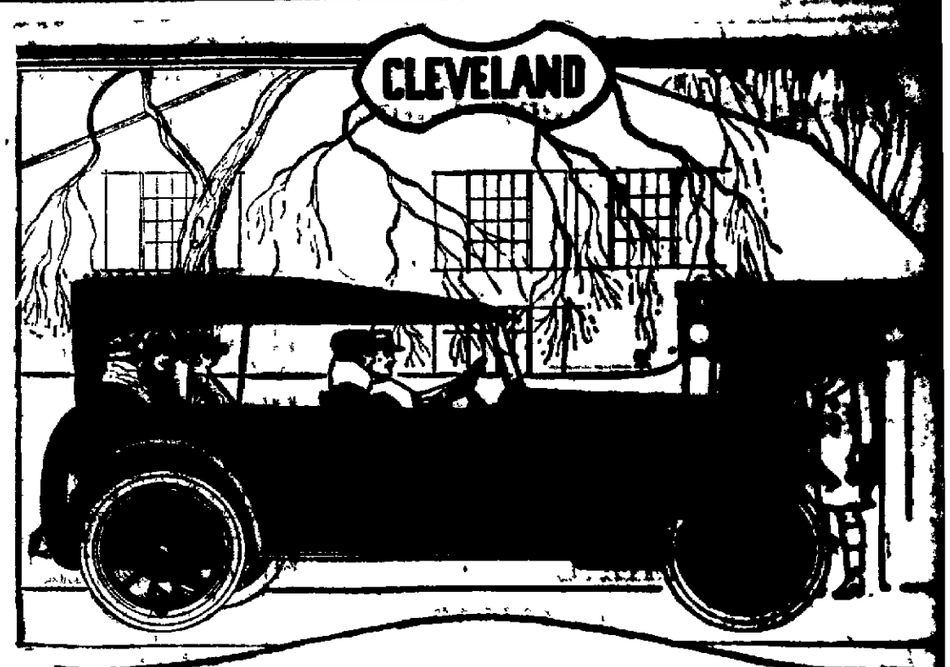
In connection with the subjoined brief history of Co. K of the First Bucktails, it might not be out of place to recite an incident or two in the army life of the late Captain John H. Norris, whose death we recorded yesterday. These tales make up a part of the "unwritten history" of this famous company of Clearfield county's brave sons and were told from time to time by fellow soldiers—also actors in the stirring dramas of that day wherein these scenes were enacted.

Captain Norris, with a number of fellow "Bucktails," was captured at Mechanicsville and confined for a time in the notorious Libby prison. One day, the story goes, in company with the late General Hartshorne, Capt. J. E. Kratzer, of Curwensville and others was playing cards to while away the time. Young Norris, who stood more than six feet high and was a rugged, splendid specimem of physical manhood, suddenly announced that he was going home. He jumped up from the table, threw a handful of money to the other boys around the board and started down the line and toward the stockade gate. His companions thought he was joking and paid no further attention until hearing a commotion they looked out the window and saw Norris battling heroically with the guard. He was striking right and left and bowling the rebels over like ten pins. Escaping from the gate he found an ambulance drawn up ready to transport a wounded exchange prisoner to a union boat flying a flag of truce in the bay. His desperate ruse worked and the daring Clearfield county lad was protected by the soldiers accompanying the ambulance and succeeded in gaining the boat and soon was able to make his way back home to Curwensville.

During his time at Libby Messrs. Hartshorne, Kratzer and Norris in nosing about in the cellar of the place, which had been a cigar factory before the war, they ran across a keg beneath a pile of rubbish under the cellar starway. Having lots of time on their hands and being curious they unearthed the keg and Norris very promptly smashed in the head of same with a kick. The aroma which arose sort of promised "some kick" in the contents of the keg, but the soldier boys were afraid for a time to tackle the stuff. Finally it was decided that one man should make the test and it fell to Norris' lot to be that man He dipped out a canful and downed it while his fellow-discoverers sat there and watched the effect. After a few minutes the experimenter replied "Boys, she's alright," and at it they went. The stuff proved to be Jamaica rum which had been used in the cigar making process, and the Clearfield county contingent staged a real celebration for a few days or until the supply was exhausted.

At Gettysburg during the second day's fight the Bucktails were rushed into the fray on Little Roundtop at the crucial moment and with the other Pennsylvania Reserves are credited with saving the day. Just at the turning point in the battle, as the gunners began to spike the guns of Weed's Battery, which was stationed where Gen. Warren's statue stands, the Bucktails rushed up and it is said that Captain Norris is the man who ran among the guns and said "Don't spike your guns, boys; give them hell, we are the Pennsylvania Reserves." The Bucktails with their deadly breechloading rifles sent volley after volley of death into the advancing ranks of the rebels and soon had them reeling while the artillery redoubled their efforts and the tide changed. The Bucktails started down over the hill toward Plum Run confronted by the 15th Georgia of Lee's army. As they advanced Corporal Thompson, of Philadelphia, sought out Major Hartshorne, then in charge of the Regiment, and informed him that a whole regiment wanted to surrender. Thompson, Major Hartshorne, Norris and several others rushed to the place where the Georgians were being mowed down by the deadly fire of the Pennsylvania Reserves and the line officers of the Regiment simply threw swords and side arms at them in token of surrender, piling their arms full of weapons, history recording that almost the entire regiment was taken at this point.



Owners Praise It For Its Comfort

The delightful comfort with which five adult persons ride in the Cleveland Six touring car has appealed to buyers everywhere. The wide, soft-cushion seats, upholstered in genuine hand-buffed plaited leather, are cozy as cozy can be. And the low underslung spring construction, a feature of the Cleveland Six chassis, subdues the road-shock long before it can reach the cushions.

Many unusual qualities such as these are fast winning friends for the Cleveland Six. Among light weight sixes it stands out distinctly.

At all the principal automobile shows this season it has attracted extraordinary crowds. Men of mechanical interests and men experienced in the use of motor cars have both generous in their expression of approval and admiration for the quality design and construction of the Cleveland Six chassis. The several beautiful styles of body, mounted on this one chassis, have met with public favor men and women alike.

When you see or drive the Cleveland Six, you want it.

Cleanse and sweeten the system each morning and wash away poisonous, stagnant matter.

Those of us who are accustomed to feel dull and heavy when we arise; splitting headache, stuffy from a cold, foul tongue, nasty breath, acid stomach, lame back, can, instead, both look and feel as fresh as a daisy always by washing the poisons and toxins from the body with phosphated hot water each morning.

We should drink, before breakfast, a glass of hot water with a teasponful of limestone phosphate in it to flush from the stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels the previous day's indigestible waste, sour bile and poisonous toxins; thus cleansing, sweetening and purifying the entire alimentary tract before eating more food.

The action of limestone phosphate and hot water on an empty stomach is wonderfully invigorating. It cleans out all the sour fermentations, gases, waste and acidity and gives one a fine appetite for breakfast. A quarter pound of limestone phosphate costs very little at the drug store, but is enough to make anyone who is bothered with biliousness, constipation, stomach trouble or rheumatism an enthusiast on internal sanitation.

DON'TS FOR MOTOR DRIVERS ISSUED BY CHIEF SADLER

HARRISBURG, Feb. 24— (United Press)—"Facts Which Every Motorist Should Know," is the title of a booklet written by Highway Commissioner Lewis S. Sadler and to be circulated through the state by the department.

The booklet contains a long series of "don'ts" and other information valuable to the motorist. Features of the new automobile law of the 1919 legislature are also pointed out, among them the registration of machines, requirements of drivers, commercial vehicle regulations, speed, rules of the road, lights, time allowed for Pennsylvania registered automobiles by other states and used motor vehicle regulations.

Among the don'ts of importance and with which the motorist is most likely to be confronted are:

Don't forget to notify the highway department immediately upon the theft of an automobile and its recovery.

Do not sound horn, bell or signal device unnecessarily, but give reasonable warning of your approach to safeguard others.

Do not use chains or other devices protecting more than one inch on tires.

Do not remove, deface or alter the manufacturer's number or engine number on motor vehicles.

Do not take part in any race or speed contest.

Do not pass a street car which is taking on or discharging passengers.

Do not fail to turn to the right when meeting or overtaken by another vehicle, allowing the other free passage to the left.

Do not attempt to pass another vehicle at an intersection, sharp turn, curve or an approaching crest of a hill.

Do not fail to render assistance after injuring a person or property and upon request give your name and address.

Do not use muffler cut-out in any city, borough or incorporated town.

Do not fail to remove registration plates upon the sale of your car and notify the state highway department within 48 hours, giving the name and address of the purchaser.

Do not operate your motor vehicle as a common carrier or jitney without approval and certificate of the Public Service commission.

Do not purchase a used or second hand car without an affidavit of the vender and a statement in duplicate. You may be purchasing a stolen car.

Famous Hudson River.

The entire length of the Hudson river is 300 miles. From Troy to the mouth of the river in New York bay, a distance of 150 miles, the river is tidal, owing to the low grade of its bed, by which the ocean tide is able to back up. It is this lower tidal navigable portion of the Hudson that is of so much importance, and, of course, the water is salt. It is regarded as really an estuary of the sea. Above Albany and Troy the river is a small stream, and to its source the water is fresh.

There is Proof that Vinol Creates Strength

Warsaw, Ind.—"Influenza left me terribly weak, anaemic and with no appetite. I could not even walk around the house without being exhausted, and as I am a housewife I had to have help. I tried tonics and doctors without benefit. I read about Vinol, and four bottles built me up and restored my strength."—Mrs. Charles Moore.

Greenwood, Miss.—"La Grippe left me run-down and so weak I had to give up my work. At my drug store I learned about Vinol, and after taking it about one month I feel like a different woman. I eat well, sleep well and feel well, and I can truly say Vinol is a God-send to any weak, run-down person to create strength after sickness."—Mary Ella Ford.

For all run-down, nervous, debilitated conditions, weak women, overworked men, feeble old people and delicate children, there is no remedy like Vinol.

New Kind of Linen.

Textilit consists of a paper thread and a fiber thread twisted together, and, though the percentage of long fiber is very small, it is claimed to have yielded products that the uninitiated cannot distinguish from the former linen and jute fabrics.

Footprints of Progress.

A good substitute for cork is obtained from certain fungi, which are dried and ground, mixed with cement and consolidated by pressure. In Norway a process has been patented to enable carbide to be used for driving motors. In Denmark a company has been floated to make briquettes from heather. These have a higher heat value than peat. Experiments are being made to use chalk marl, especially that which comes from the Limburg mines, as a fertilizer.

Beyond His Control.

Robert had entertained his cousin for two or three days, but at the end of the third day, a discussion arose and a hand to hand fight ensued. His mother, hearing the commotion, quickly rushed to the scene and admonished, "It isn't nice to fight, Robert," she said, "especially your own relation and guest," but her son in the heat of passion, replied, "It don't make any difference whether he is my 'lation or not, my mad feels just the same."

Shoe Shine.

A most satisfactory way to dress shoes is to rub them with a section of an orange or a lemon and then to polish with a dry cloth. It gives a brilliant luster to shoes not badly worn and does not soil the clothing. It is often a convenience in freshening up shoes at the end of a journey, for fruit is easily obtained.

Fear to Tell Own Name.

Among the Knyans, a tribe of the Philippines, it is a breach of manners to ask a man what his name is. If a white man does so through ignorance the man will turn to a bystander and ask that the stranger, who does not know the customs, may be informed. If a man tells his own name the evil spirits will hear him and can more readily do him harm.

WHAT HAS EUROPE? ASK U. S. INVESTORS

American Producers Would Take Stock In Factories To Guarantee Credits

WASHINGTON, Feb. 24. (United Press.)— American manufacturers and producers of raw materials are finding out what European buyers have to offer as security before they send their materials abroad.

Inquiries are pouring into the Department of Commerce and Labor here asking for details of arrangements whereby American investors can assure themselves of payments for their goods either in the form of mortgages on the plants of the European maufacturer or dividends on stock.

Government officials here are of the opinion the United States investor might in that way assist the United States producer and shipper sell his raw material and to get quick payment for it. Europe must have our raw material, they point out. It cannot get it unless it pays for it and it cannot pay for it unless credits are extended. It is the plan to back these credits up by accepting securities of the plants themselves.

Generally speaking, big financial men are disinclined to risk heavily in Europe. Government officials, however, say investment of American dollars in Europe is natural and logical, if negotiable through private enterprises with safe and sane backing.

The governement departments to which inquiries are being directed, are inclined to caution Americans to invest in European industrial securities only after investigation both at home and abroad, as to the enterprises to be invested in and the good faith of the American agents, whether they be trading corporations or otherwise.

Would-be investor s in European concerns cite as proof of their hopes, the enormous profits now being made by English cotton mills, which are reported to be earning dividends ranging up to 300 per cent on capital stock. Boom time dividends also are being paid by European concerns holding large oil and rubber properties.

Queries for information as to the standing and dividends paid by industrial companies in France, England and Italy are flooding many government departments here.

Many American business men say the present situation is like that prevailing when the U. S. was building up its transcontinental railroads, opening its great mines and laying the foundations of great factories.

The great American fortunes of the coming generations are going to be made through foreign connections, many experts contend.

At the outbreak of the great war, approximately $4,000,000,000 worth of American securities were held by foreign investors. All but one quarter of these securities were sold here, according to the best estimates.

Within the next ten years, approximately $3,000,000,000 will be invested abroad by Americans, it is predicted.

Americans have it within their power to save and invest nearly this entire sum within one year, it was said here today. According to Comptroller of the Currency John S. Williams, Americans this year will have a surplus of approximately $10,000,000,000 above what they will need for food, clothes and education. Much of this must be invested in rebuilding American industry torn down by the war, it is conceded. But there will still be left a vast sum that may be invested abroad.

Europeans will have little left with which to rehabilitate their industries after paying burdensome taxes, according to the best observers. England will have a surplus of approximately $5,000,000,000 above necessities, or approximately one-half of the expected U. S. surplus, officials estimate. France can muster approximately $2,500,000,000, it is believed, and Italy perhaps a like sum. But from these surpluses, the British, Italians and French must deduct their taxes. The result, it is believed, will be a high increase in interest rates which will attract American dollars, it is predicted.

American dollars placed in foreign securities and utilities will help the U. S. retain the vast export trade built up during the war, officials say. Everything possible is being done to encourage conservative investment of this kind. Eugene Meyer, Jr., managing director of the War Finance Corporation, is on record as favoring the listing of foreign government and industrial securities on the New York stock exchange.
